

$4 Million Cruise Ship To Be Built By VMD

Alaska Line Awards Contract

Victoria Machinery Depot has won a $4,000,000 contract to build a luxury cruise liner for a United States firm operating in the Alaska trade.

The winning bid was entered against competition from both United States and Canadian yards.

Contract is with Alaska Cruise Lines Ltd. of Seattle and Vancouver. Work will start early in January when the two new B.C. Toll Authority ferries now building at the Ogden Point VMD yards are off the ways.

Work on the contract has been going on for several months, and the successful bid by VMD was announced in Vancouver today by Charles B. West, president of Alaska Cruise.

The ship will provide work for a force of between 200 and 300 men for 18 months, and comes at an ideal time to take up the slack after completion of the ferries.

At present specifications for the cruise ship are still in the drawing board stage. Basic requirements call for luxury accommodation for 238 passengers in a hull 295 feet long with a beam of 60 feet.

Mr. West, in announcing the award, said the vessel will be delivered in time for the 1964 tourist season. The ship will be operated from a base in Vancouver, sailing the scenic inland waterway route to Skagway.

HAIR-TRIGGER MOVE

Charter Pilot Saved 7 Lives

Department of transport inspectors today are probing circumstances of a spectacular boat-seaplane collision off Campbell River mouth Thursday night which sent a father of four to hospital and but for a bush pilot's hair-trigger reactions, might have claimed seven lives.

In Campbell River Hospital with leg and facial injuries is George Woodworth, 59-year-old maintenance man for B.C. Hydro at Hart Dam, who with his three young sons was catapulted from the family fishing boat when pontoons of a seaplane, a single-engine Cessna 172, piloted by John McNeill of Island Air Lines, smashed into the after section of the 17-foot plywood and fibre-glass craft.

Unharmed, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragner of Seattle, passengers in the single-engine bush-plane, are proceeding with a British Columbia vacation devoted to color photography and trout fishing. Their only fear is that some of Mr. Ragner's color photos may have been ruined by a dunking that would have ended in a drowning, save for their charter pilot's cool and speedy rescue work.

The seaplane's landing lights were on as we slanted down. I'm sure of that; in fact, I noticed later that they remained on even with the plane under water.

"I didn't see the boat at all," the wife of the Seattle television color engineer continued. "I just felt the plane lift a little, then there was this terrible impact and we seemed to plunge forward. Next thing I knew, I was trying to lift my head out of water that had almost filled the cabin."

Unfastened Seat Belt In Time

"I'd never have made it, but Mr. McNeill unfastened my seat belt—I was beside him in the other front seat—and got me out of there. My husband managed to climb out of the rear of the plane as it settled."

"Except for a couple of minor bruises, we weren't hurt. We'd had a marvelous day with lots of trout, and our only worry is about our pictures."

Mr. Woodworth told the Times his side of the bizarre crackup minutes after he emerged from surgery with 21 stitches in his left leg, and one in his hip. Hearty and vigorous of speech, his first words were, "Boy, am I glad the kids and I are alive!"

Mr. Woodworth, a keen salmon fisherman, got off work later than usual, and with sons Everett, 13; Douglas, 12; and David, five, piled into the boat for a couple of hours' fishing in the famed Tyee Pool where the Campbell fans out to the tide-infested waters of Discovery Passage.

They had cut out their 30-horsepower outboard and started the little three-horse trolling motor clamped beside it on the transom, when "That plane just appeared

TWO WOMEN STRANGLED TO DEATH

Capital Murder Charge Laid

EDMONTON (CP)—A charge of capital murder was laid today against Earl Lehr, 29, following the strangulation of his wife and mother Thursday night at a small home on Edmonton's northeastern outskirts.

Killed were Mrs. Delores Lehr, 26, and Mrs. Dion Lehr, 55, of Ponoka. Police charged Lehr shortly after they arrested him at Edmonton's Royal Alexandra Hospital. He was to appear in court today.

Police did not suggest a motive for the slayings. They did not release many details. Lehr, an electrician who returned Thursday from McMurray in northeastern Alberta, was arrested after his brother-in-law reported he spoke to the man on the street when he noticed Lehr was carrying one of his four children in his arms.

Police said the two men went to hospital; police were called and the Lehr home was searched. The bodies were found inside the small frame dwelling.

BODIES REMOVED
The slayings apparently occurred about 9:15 p.m. in the home in a sparsely-housed section of the city. The bodies were removed during the night and taken to hospital for autopsies.

Neighbors said the family had been living in the home about two months. The dwelling, reached only by streets made muddy by recent rains, is surrounded on three sides by broad fields. A crude child's swing hung from a tree in front of the house.

Police Chief M. F. E. Anthony said a woman had called earlier in the day, concerned about a person she believed might be mentally ill. "The police were not invited out," he said. "In fact, they were asked to stay away."

Chief Anthony said the call was handled by a police woman who is a registered nurse and trained in psychiatry. He said the woman was advised that provisions of the Mental Diseases Act prevented police from arresting a person suspected of being mentally ill and dangerous unless a member of the family swore an information alleging mental illness before a magistrate.

The woman did not want police to come and said she would discuss the matter with her mother-in-law.

High Hopes For Typhoon

HONG KONG (AP)—Hong Kong today welcomed the approach of typhoon Wanda, hoping its rains will ease the refugee-crowded British colony's acute water shortage.

The storm, with winds up to 100 miles an hour, was moving west-northwest across the South China Sea after passing between the Philippines and Formosa. Unless it changes course, Wanda's eye is expected to pass 80 miles south of Hong Kong.

U.S. Hoping For Test Ban By Year End

Would Continue Talks In Recess

GENEVA (AP)—The United States proposed today that the three nuclear powers continue meeting during the fall recess of the disarmament talks to try to work out an agreement banning nuclear tests by the end of this year.

Arthur Dean, U.S. chief delegate, told the 17-nation disarmament conference his government believes it should be possible for the American-British-Soviet nuclear subcommittee to complete this task by Nov. 1 so a treaty could become effective by Jan. 1, 1963.

The disarmament talks are to recess from Sept. 8 until Nov. 12 while the negotiators report back to the UN General Assembly.

Westinghouse conference sources said the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, told the conference his government will study the proposal for continued subcommittee meetings. These sources said the U.S. idea is for the meetings to continue to take place in Geneva rather than in New York.

Joseph Godber, British minister of state, told the conference earlier today that Britain and the United States will not accept the uncontrolled moratorium on underground nuclear explosions proposed by the Soviet Union.

Godber praised President Kennedy for his qualified acceptance of the Soviet suggestion this week that all nuclear tests be suspended by the end of the year.

But Dean, speaking to reporters just before the session, emphasized that the Western powers will agree to cut off all testing only on condition that the Russians agree to the U.S.-British proposal for on-site inspections to guard against underground tests.

This condition assured Soviet rejection of the proposal. In proposing the moratorium, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, insisted there should be no provision for international inspection.

Godber told the meeting that all three nuclear powers should redouble their efforts for an agreement to end all or part of the nuclear tests because both sides have suggested the same deadline to suspend test explosions.

Godber appealed to Kuznetsov to accept the cutoff in one of the two treaties the Western side proposed and the Soviet Union rejected.

The Soviet Union has rejected all Western proposals for on-site inspection as attempts to set up spy networks on Soviet soil. The Western powers insist that on-site inspection of underground tests is necessary to prevent cheating.

Godber stressed that the two Western powers "have come a long way to meet the Soviet demands. We believe we are entitled to a response."

CIGARETTE SALES BANNED BY HOSPITALS

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—The South Manchester Hospital Group banned the sale of cigarettes Thursday at its six hospitals.

A spokesman said the group accepted advice from medical superintendents to discourage smoking in hospitals. Cigarette vending machines in the six hospitals are to be taken away, he said.

Visitors could still bring cigarettes for patients but every effort will be made to discourage them from smoking.

Deportation Upheld By Court

LONDON (AP)—The Court of Appeal today upheld a government order for deportation of Dr. Robert Soblen to the United States and the convicted Soviet spy's lawyers dropped their plans to carry the fight on to the House of Lords.

Soblen faces life imprisonment in the U.S. Solomon Kauffman of Soblen's legal team said that, instead of appealing to the Lords, Soblen will make a plea to Home Secretary Brooke, who issued the deportation order Aug. 2.

At the conclusion of today's judgment, F. Elwyn Jones, another of Soblen's lawyers, told the Court of Appeal:

"I am authorized by the attorney-general, Sir John Hobson, to say that, before the deportation is put into effect, an opportunity will be given to Dr. Soblen to make representations to the home secretary in regard to this matter."

The House of Lords is Britain's highest tribunal, a last resort. The Court of Appeal refused to free Soblen and dismissed his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

The ruling is the fourth adverse decision Soblen has met in British courts.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY TRIUMPH

Car Cavalcade Completes Atlantic-to-Pacific Trek

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian history was made today when a cavalcade of 14 cream-colored cars rolled down to the water's edge and dipped their front wheels in the Pacific Ocean.

The wheel-dipping ceremony, held at the Dallas Road ramp of the James Bay Anglers' Association, marked completion of a 5,000-mile motorcade across Canada from St. John's, Newfoundland. There on Aug. 1, the 14 cars dipped their rear wheels in the Atlantic Ocean at the start of their 30-day journey across prairie, forest and mountain to Mile Zero on the Dallas waterfront.

DREAMED-OF DAY
"This is a day of which our forefathers could only dream," said Premier Bennett from the steps of the Legislative Buildings, where he greeted 30 men and six women passengers on completion of "an historic journey."

"You have been ambassadors of goodwill all across Canada," he declared.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, added his congratulations at the wheel-dipping ceremony, and commended the Canadian Automobile Association on its organization of a "cross-country classic."

Five Canadian manufacturers provided 14 new cars for the journey—12 for each province of Canada, one for the federal government and one for newspapermen.

CARRIED CRESTS
The provincial cars carried their crests and an illuminated sign announcing official opening of the Trans-Canada Highway, next Monday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

"The journey proved that it is now possible for motorists to drive over passable roads all the way from St. John's to Victoria," said Jack Chestnutt of Vancouver, who drove the British Columbia car.

Mr. Chestnutt, who is director of roads services for the B.C. Automobile Association, drove with Ron Gadsby of the B.C. recreation and conservation department.

"It was a wonderful experience," said Mr. Gadsby.

POLICE ESCORT
Led by an escort of city police, and RCMP, the cavalcade reached the Empress Hotel Thursday night. This morning it called at the City Hall to pick up Mayor R. E. Wilson and other civic officials.

cials; drove to the flag-draped Legislative Buildings; on to Mile Zero and then to the wheel-dipping ceremony on the Dallas Road.

The cars swept through city streets and were greeted with sporadic cheering from men, women and children on Douglas near the Mile Zero sign.

Afterwards the travellers were hosted at a B.C. government luncheon in the Empress Hotel, at which Attorney-General Robert Bonner took the chair and Highways Minister Gagliardi gave an address of welcome.

A special guest at the luncheon was the Hon. J. G. Macdonald.

FEDERAL, provincial and municipal officials gathered at Mile Zero, near Dallas Road waterfront at end of journey from St. John's, Nfld.

Algiers Citizens Parade, Yell: 'WE'VE HAD ENOUGH'

ALGERS (AP)—Several hundred Moslem demonstrators calling for peace paraded through portions of Algiers today as tension built up over the possibility of armed clashes.

The demonstrators carried banners saying: "No fighting—we've had enough."

Algiers radio, under control of the local Wilaya (zone) 4 of the guerrilla army, called on the population to go into the streets to demonstrate against forces favorable to Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and to bar the roads to these forces. Ben Bella's forces have been reported in the last 48 hours to be moving toward Algiers from the west. But so far there have been no indications they are near the city.

Telephone and telegraph connections between the central and western part of the new nation were cut late Thursday night.

Shortly before, European settlers had reported by telephone that heavy convoys of Algerian regular troops, armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, were moving along three highways toward Algiers and were about 150 miles from the capital.

It was not known whether they halted for the night.

The regular army's chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, dispatched the units in obedience to an order from Ben Bella's political bureau to bring Algiers under the bureau's authority.

LONDON (AP)—The founder of the Society for the Protection of Uter Femininity reports membership is growing.

"We started up a month ago," said portrait painter Sara Leighton, 26, "and we are receiving wide support throughout the country."

Membership is limited to women. Miss Leighton gave no figures on total membership.

The society wants women to give up the vote and stop trying to compete with men in business.

"A woman should stay in the home," said Miss Leighton. "My ex-husband agrees with me."

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Mrs. J. C. Dobbin flunked her driver's licence test Thursday.

When she started to pull away from the curb in the examining area her car lurched across the sidewalk, ran over a no-parking sign and crashed into a guard rail.

SHEERNESS, England—Norma Sugg's job as a salesgirl rested today with the customers' opinion of her new hair-do.

Norma, 18, showed up at her job with a co-operative society's store recently sporting a bouffant hair style. Manager William Hossack gave her 14 days to change it. She didn't.

He fired her and Norma appealed to her union. Union Secretary Jose Mahney said the union will have to decide whether Hossack's order was reasonable.

"We cannot have employers dictating what lipstick or eye shadow an employee may use," Mahney said.

"Of course, it could be that the customers objected. If they did, then the employer would be justified in telling an employee to change her hair style."

QUESNEL—A man made a bet with drinking pals that he could walk the narrow rail on the Quesnel Bridge.

He lost the wager, fell 30 feet into the Fraser River and broke his ankle. Bystanders pulled him out of the water.

Kenneth Baker of Quesnel was later charged with intoxication.

TORONTO—A 71-year-old Toronto woman who celebrated her birthday with a marathon hike says she thinks she'll switch to a racetrack next year.

Mrs. Stella Johnston made the observation Thursday as she sat with her feet in soothing water after a 71-mile trek from Vineland, Ont., to the Canadian National Exhibition here.

Mrs. Johnston said crowds along the route delayed her trip by several hours.

"I like to have them come out to see me, because their cheers help you on. But the talking and pulling wears you out, too."

"I think I'll try to do it on a racetrack next year."

Mrs. Johnston recalled that a man tried to pull her into a tavern along the route to give her refreshment.

A teetotaler and vegetarian, she wasn't having any.

Mrs. Johnston, a physical culture fan since her youth, began her birthday walks in 1950. She sets the mileage to match her age.

WASHINGTON—The labor department's new robot press agent appears to have turned rogue, touching off a telephonic snarl that is threatening to create havoc.

Children have found they can call the special telephone number used by the labor department to give recorded news announcements and talk to each other over a busy signal, officials said Thursday.

The flood of calls has tied up the answering service and labor officials said employees are complaining of dialing an abnormally high amount of wrong numbers since the robot was set up.

pened, the plane must have come gliding in below the mountain horizon. All I knew was, my littlest boy hollered 'Daddy!... Daddy!' ... and I looked up from the stern seat and there it was, almost on top of us.

REVVED MOTOR

"I don't think the pilot saw us. I revved up the motor, hoping to get clear or at least spare my boys, then the pontoons caught us."

Mr. Woodward insists the seaplane was in the air when the collision occurred.

"I estimate the floats were three feet off the water when I saw them," he said.

"I went down so deep I thought I'd never fight my way up. I didn't feel a thing. The only thought in my head was, 'Where are the boys?'"

"My oldest acted like a real man. He had grabbed little David—his full name is David Lloyd George—and was taking care of him. Douglas did fine too. I'm real proud of them."

"Lifejackets? You bet! The boys never get in the boat without them. Sure, they squawk sometimes, but my wife and I insist on them wearing lifejackets, and last night, they certainly paid off."

IN USUAL AREA

Mr. Woodward, questioned, didn't think the plane was lit, but said it was in the usual aircraft landing area.

"I couldn't state the exact time," he said, "but it was full dark when they were loading me into the ambulance."

Fishing craft swarmed to pluck the accident victims from the water.

"We were picked up by a couple from the southern States," Mr. Woodward said.

"They didn't leave their names, but those were fine people. They took the boys home to my wife and our daughter Linda, who's 10 and celebrating her birthday this week. I don't know or care about my boat, although a skindiver friend is going to try for my motor. Those are material things, and I'm just glad we're safe."

"I was a little shook up," 30-year-old bachelor bush pilot John McNeill said ironically from the line office at Campbell River.

Actually, I'd landed 150 feet back. I never saw the boat till it was right in front of me. It was getting toward dusk, and hard to see anything toward the shoreline. Also, in that position, a plane's nose is high, making it hard to spot anything dead ahead on the water.

"I yelled 'Look out!' to my passengers, then hauled back on the column, trying to lift my ship over the boat so the prop wouldn't slice the people in it. I guess I succeeded."

"Next I knew, I was hanging upside-down by my belt. We were tipped, and the cabin was flooding. I freed myself, then loosed Mrs. Ragner's seat belt and pulled her out. Mr. Ragner made it without help."

The float plane, later towed in, Mr. McNeill describes as a "complete write-off."

Method Found

To Rid Body

Of Strontium

MONTREAL (CP)—A Finnish scientist, Kai Setälä, reported discovery Thursday of a way to rid the body of strontium, one of the dangerous elements absorbed through radioactivity fallout.

The technique, developed experimentally on cats and mice, is to have the radioactive material secreted in saliva and sweat.

Dr. Setälä, professor of pathology at the University of Helsinki, reports it at the International Congress of Radiology.

Strontium, occurring in both natural and man-made fallout, lodges in the bones.

KIDNEYS RULED OUT

Dr. Setälä said it is necessary to get strontium out of the body because it cannot be changed or rendered harmless within the body. The problem in this vital area of research had been to get the strontium out without killing the patient.

If the kidneys were used to excrete the strontium, so much bone-building calcium would go out along with it that the patient would die within a few hours.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Taxpayers Hurt By Parity Bonds

Times News Services

VANCOUVER—British Columbia Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Thursday night provincial government parity bonds are safe for investors but ruinous for taxpayers.

"It is all very well for investment counsellors to advise their clients that criticism of parties is politically inspired," he said in a statement.

But no investment counsellor would endorse a private company managed in the "cloak and dagger style" of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, he said.

Mr. Perrault said heavy advertising costs for parity bond issues and guarantees making them redeemable at par at any time are making them "costly out of all reason for the taxpayers."

He repeated earlier demands for information on the issue price of government borrowings, nominal yield and other terms and conditions.

"What has he (the premier) got to hide?" the statement asked.

He said the government's damaging financial policies have left the province paying $1,000,000 a week in interest while Premier Bennett claims B.C. is debt free.

Mr. Perrault's statement follows an announcement by the premier that a $35,000,000 issue of 5½ per cent parity bonds has been oversold by more than $15,000,000.

THIRSTY FAN FINED

VANCOUVER—A football fan was fined $50 Thursday for drinking liquor during the B.C. Lions-Saskatchewan game at Empire stadium Aug. 9.

Fred Wallace was caught by police drinking from a bottle of rum during the half-time intermission of the game which Lions won 33-7.

EPIC TREK COPIED

VANCOUVER—Seven adventurers from St. Paul, Minn., have walked in the footsteps of Sir Alexander Mackenzie, trekking in 28 days the last 300 miles of his epic cross-country, 18th century journey.

"When we saw the Pacific from Bella Coola we knew we were at the end of a wonderful journey," said Windy Linden, 22-year-old councillor for the "Boy Voyageurs."

All of his associates came from YMCA Camp Widjawan, near St. Paul.

Linden said there were difficulties—like one occasion when the group spent 27 hours without water.

The Voyageurs had four horses with them for part of the walk, but sent them home because for a horse the going was too tough.

Since 1955 the Minnesotans have trekked over the complete route of the Mackenzie party, taking each section in stages like the last. They arrived here Wednesday en route home.

HALIBUT OFF SEPT. 8

The International Pacific Halibut Commission today announced the date for terminating the season, which opened in May. The commission said B.C. waters will remain closed until the 1963 season.

STRIKE VOTE STARTS

VANCOUVER—About 300 electrical workers in the Vancouver area start a strike vote today. The vote follows rejection by electrical contractors of a five-cent-an-hour pay offer made by the contractors' association, accepted by the union, then rejected by individual contractors.

POST FOR UBC MAN

Before joining the association last year Mr. Thomas was assistant professor of education and supervisor of communications with the University of British Columbia.

TALENTED REFUGEE

VANCOUVER—Chung-Pin Chi, a recent Chinese refugee who speaks seven dialects of Chinese, fluent English and Russian, has begun learning the produce business in an attempt to raise funds to send his 22-year-old son to UBC.

Chung-Pin, his wife, son and daughter were among the last group of Hong Kong refugees to arrive in Vancouver.

Immigration officials said they have found jobs for the heads of the other eight families but had difficulty in placing Mr. Chung, who as well as his ability at languages is a beekeeper, gymnast, pilot and was air attaché in London, England, before the last war.

Red Missile Bases Ring Berlin Airways

BERLIN UPD—The Soviets have ringed the three Allied air corridors to Berlin with dozens of anti-aircraft missile bases, a highly-placed western military intelligence source said today.

The revelation of Soviet missile bases, rushed to completion in little more than a year, came as the East German Communists stepped up their campaign against alleged Allied "misuse" of the air access corridors to the city.

The Communists accused the United States of flying spies into West Berlin and illegally transporting West German government officials to Berlin in U.S. Air Force planes. Meanwhile, the Soviets ignored a British protest against a near collision two nights ago between a Soviet aircraft and a British European Airways Airliner coming in to land in West Berlin.

Cobalt Death Charges Laid

Engineers Held for Trial As Three Killed By Canadian-Made Capsule

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two civil engineers have been ordered held for trial on charges of causing the deaths of three persons who died from exposure to radiation from a Canadian-made cobalt capsule.

STRANGLER GETS 5TH VICTIM

BOSTON (AP)—Police have begun another intensive search for the man they believe responsible for the strangulation deaths of five elderly Boston area women since June 14.

The body of the fifth victim, Jane Sullivan, 67, was discovered Thursday night by a nephew, Dennis Mahoney, 44, checking on the woman's failure to appear in public in more than a week.

The body was found, covered by a rope, in a partly-filled bathtub in the first-floor apartment she maintained alone in the Dorchester section.

A medical examiner, Dr. George W. Curtis, said the woman had been strangled.

CPR Firemen, Conciliators In Hassle

OTTAWA (CP)—Three conciliation board members in the dispute between the CPR and its 6,362 firemen have not only failed in a year-long bid to solve the issues but have been unable to agree among themselves on the over-riding wage question.

Their report was made public Thursday without comment by Labor Minister Starr. Board members were chairman Judge John B. Robinson of Halleybury, Ont., company nominee R. V. Hicks and labor nominee Senator Arthur Roebuck.

REPORT REJECTED

Judge Robinson noted he had earlier recommended a 6½ per cent wage boost for the CNR's firemen but that this majority report of that board was rejected and the CNR instead settled on an eight per cent wage increase in a 31-month contract.

He suggested it is almost impossible for the CPR to ignore the CNR's settlement, reached last June. But at the same time he said it can't be expected that, after giving detailed reasons for his 6½ per cent recommendation in the CNR case, he would "make an about face" and recommend a different figure for the CPR. The Senator said the CPR should follow the CNR's lead.

A third civil engineer who had been taken into custody was ordered set free.

The persons who died absorbed radiation from a cobalt capsule brought here from Canada to be used in a process similar to X-raying for checking construction material quality.

All victims were members of a family which lived for months with the deadly capsule in their house without knowing what it was.

Jesus Espindola, head of the family, said he did not know how the capsule got into the house. It had been put by the engineers into a lead container in the yard of Lee Zarate's home to prevent radiation from escaping.

The Espindola family lived in a small house at the rear of the home of Lee Zarate.

Soustelle Charges Considered

PARIS (Reuters)—French newspapers today say the government is considering legal action against anti-Gaullist former minister Jacques Soustelle, rumored to have paid a clandestine visit to Paris on the eve of the Aug. 22 attempt to assassinate President de Gaulle.

So far there are no charges against Soustelle, expelled from Italy earlier this month and has since been reported in West Germany.

The newspaper France-Soir says reports of a secret Paris visit by Soustelle have not been confirmed. It comments that even if they were true, and the French authorities had known of his presence, they would have had no legal grounds for arresting the former minister.

"The government is reported to be planning to end this state of affairs by banning the National Council of the Resistance," the extremist organization headed by ex-prime Minister Georges Bidault as it did the Secret Army Organization and opening a legal inquiry against Soustelle," France-Soir says.

Steel Chiefs Ignore Subpoenas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top executives of four big American steel companies defied subpoenas from the Senate anti-trust subcommittee today by not appearing and producing data on production costs.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), the subcommittee chairman, denounced their refusal to appear as willful and premeditated contempt of Congress.

He recommended that his subcommittee cite the steel executives for contempt. The subcommittee was expected to go into closed session to decide whether to do so.

The four companies—Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco—have challenged the subcommittee's jurisdiction and contended the subpoenaed cost data is confidential information.

Contempt of Congress is punishable by a $1,000 fine or one year in prison, or both.

Contempt citations would have to be approved not only by Kefauver's subcommittee, but by the full Senate judiciary committee, and its parent body, and by the Senate itself.

Then it would be up to the justice department to decide whether to submit the citation to a grand jury.

In event of a grand jury indictment, the case would go to trial.

SIX REBELS EXECUTED BY CUBANS

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Six Cuban counter-revolutionaries have been executed for slaying militiamen or co-operating with the killers, Havana radio said today.

The men were given a public trial on the charges, the broadcast said. Four militiamen were reported slain. The executions bring to 662 the unofficial total of firing squad deaths announced since the Fidel Castro regime came to power.

The men, captured in Matanzas Province, formed the largest known group to face Cuban firing squads this year.

The broadcast monitored in Key West, identified the head of the group as Filiberto Couto Gomez.

The Cuban government radio said two of those condemned were accused of supplying food, clothing and ammunition to the band.

European Tourists Sought by Canada

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Canadian government is launching a campaign to attract more tourists to this country from Europe.

As a start to the campaign Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will formally open the Canadian government's first travel bureau to be established in London, Sept. 11.

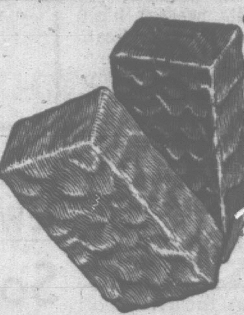

The government hopes that by 1967 the country's 100th birthday, it will have a network of travel agents located throughout Europe and that the flow of visitors from the continent to Canada will have stepped up considerably.

Northern Affairs and National Resources Minister Walter Dinsdale will be on hand in London when the prime minister opens the travel bureau office. A number of provincial travel bureau directors have been invited to attend together with several Canadian newspapermen.

The arrangements for the formal opening are being handled by Dan Wallace, assistant director of the Canadian government's travel bureau, who will be in London for the opening. The London office will have staff of five under the direction of R. Douglas Palmer who has been in London since April.

We who make whisky say:

DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX

Fine whisky is a luxury and should be treated as such. And, knowing when to say "no" plays a great part in the art of sensible living.

Neither whisky nor any other alcoholic beverage has any place at the wheel of an automobile. This conviction must be shared by every thinking person who drives a car, particularly this Labour Day week-end when many holidaying families will be travelling on British Columbia highways.

If you expect to be at the wheel of a car this week-end, we say to you: Think before you drink. Don't drink before you drive.

What Austerity?

WHOEVER INTRODUCED THE word "austerity" to Canada did a good service for the crackpots, a bad disservice for the nation.

In the first place, the word is quite inaccurate as applied to the policies of the Diefenbaker government. No such thing as "austerity" has been imposed on the Canadian people—yet.

More important, by calling the government's policies "austerity" the crackpots can make them sound evil, cruel and unnatural. Even the great majority of Canadians who are highly prosperous can be made to suspect that they are suffering serious hardships if they are told so often enough.

In actual fact the government has not yet gone nearly as far as it, or some alternative government, must go, in strong, unpleasant measures—provided, of course, that the nation intends to put its affairs in order, live on its own earnings and cease to be a mendicant begging for international loans.

For the last two years this newspaper has been saying that, at the rate we are going, new taxes will have to be imposed on the Canadian people.

Probably most readers did not believe this argument when the politicians on all sides were promising easier times and saying that a growing economy would provide plenty of revenues for our eleven voracious governments.

Yet according to Mr. Peter Newman, the distinguished Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, higher taxes now appear unavoidable, the only question being what exact form they should take.

They are unavoidable because the government at last is trying to balance its budget and undoubtedly has given some such commitment to the foreign lenders who rescued it from disaster a few weeks ago.

Certainly the intended deficit of some $745 millions for the current year can be cut down somewhat by economies in the defence and other departments. The new emergency tariffs will raise some extra revenue but the government has promised that they will soon be removed as the emergency passes. These improvements, however, will not be sufficient for the government's purposes.

Hence, says Mr. Newman, "if the Prime Minister is serious about trying to restore confidence in his administration the (autumn) budget will almost certainly have to include some tax increases."

What kind of taxes? Mr. Newman says that only five fields of revenue are open to the government.

It could raise the personal income tax but, at its present high rate, this is probably impractical. To get any substantial extra revenue the government would have to raise the income tax in the lower brackets, since the higher are already taxed enough to discourage enterprise. Whatever the economic argument may be, a higher tax on small incomes is probably impossible in politics.

Higher taxes on corporate income would be the worst kind of economics when business needs encouragement. In the third field of sales taxes on commodities, the rates already are pretty steep. The same is true of death duties and gift taxes.

That leaves a fifth and attractive area for the tax collector. As Mr. Newman says, the state could tax services, "such things as electricity and gas accounts, cleaning and shoe repairs" and doubtless many other things.

It is the service area that has been growing fastest in Canada, much faster than the area of production. The Canadian Tax Foundation, a neutral fact-gathering organization, estimated that if the sales tax now applied to most commodities were applied to services the government would raise some $800 millions in new revenue, about enough to cover its present deficit.

It is by no means certain that the present government will consider a service or any other new tax, before the next election. The required courage may be lacking. But sooner or later some government must face up to the necessity of drastically cutting expenditures, which seems improbable, or collecting more revenue.

There is another alternative. The present drift could be allowed to continue, financed by borrowing and inflation. Then the resulting destruction of money's value, the loss of savings and the upsurge of prices would produce "austerity" with a vengeance.

For Public Protection

THIS COMMUNITY IS NO stranger to the glib cheat who victimizes unwary householders in door-to-door sales and in house repairs. Too frequently the people who suffer in such swindles are elderly folk of modest means who cannot afford to pay for the experience.

As a measure to protect them—and less glib citizens—the move to establish a Better Business Bureau here should be widely commended.

On many occasions the creation of such an agency has been suggested in Victoria. Hitherto the plans for a bureau have been still-born.

Current reports indicate something more feasible, an agency which will function for the whole settled area of Vancouver Island. Covering such a broad field, it should enlist adequate financial support to maintain the service.

The work of a Better Business Bureau will not be confined entirely to checking the bona fides of pedlars of questionable character, nor of such self-professed experts as those who do fictional chimney and roof repairs for old folk unable to scrutinize the work. But it will provide some protection against that type.

In one of the few large cities lacking such a service, the present proposal to establish a bureau here deserves encouragement. It can expect help from those who will benefit—the honest merchant who loses out when a fast-talking cheat takes business he could handle.

From Sea to Sea

HAVING SUCCESSFULLY traversed more than 3,000 miles without a fort, emerged unscathed from the Maritimes and Quebec, survived the hospitality of Ontario, endured the long, level highways of the prairies and doggedly resisted the siren song of the New Westminster Chamber of Commerce to end its journey there, the Trans-Canada Motorcade has reached Victoria and dipped its wheels in the blue Pacific, or an extension thereof.

The travellers have had a substantial journey, although not one of record length as automobile journeys go.

Fallout on the Farms

RADIOACTIVE FALLOUT, AS measured in the middle western states, is higher than usual. Experts say the contamination is still well below a level dangerous to human beings. But whether or not the radioactivity is having any direct effect, the public reaction to its presence is definitely being felt.

In two states—Minnesota and Utah—farmers have shifted their dairy cattle from fresh pasture with its contamination and are feeding them dried fodder in barns. In three other states—Iowa, Kansas and Missouri—similar voluntary action is being studied.

The contamination is from Iodine

They have not had to wrestle with the rigors of motor travel through deserts, uncharted veldt or frozen tundra. But they have marked an achievement which opens a new future to Canadians—they have motored from end to end of the Trans-Canada Highway, which now officially becomes a fact of Canadian life.

As one of the travellers puts it: "Using the highway is an experience in Canadianism that cannot be excelled."

May they be the first of many thousands who will strengthen our national bonds by visiting the rest of their homeland "from Canada, by land."

"They say it's going to be a pretty rough session..."

NEWS ITEM: A LADY LISTENED!

Some Loose Talk Down in the Ant Heap

"GO TO THE ANT thou sluggard, consider her ways," was good advice in its time—probably still is. And while ants have slipped somewhat from their pedestal as paragons of social virtue in these days of automation, the four-day week, training for leisure, and the full rich life—although they aren't held up so frequently as splendid examples of industriousness, which we should follow—I mean, if everybody worked continually and saved the way ants do, what would happen to half our industries—the movies and TV, the great sports spectacles, the vast manufacturing complex which provides materials and equipment for these, and so on—why there'd be the worst depression in history tomorrow if everybody started working like an ant—well, anyway, we just don't think of ants the way we used to—we like them, of course, they're admirable and all that—industrious, persevering, energetic, efficient, painstaking and so on—but I mean who needs them, the ants OR the virtues?

Not that we couldn't learn a lot from the ants. In fact, we're very much like them in some ways. Lift up a rock with an ant's nest under it, and the frantic hurry-scurry in all directions will give you a miniature picture of what we'll all look like just after The Bomb.

Ants take good care of their young, too. And most humans are pretty fussy about which young girls come in to baby-sit for them—that shows a pretty high standard of parenthood, I'd say.

Ants like the ants around them and hate ants from outside, and this lines up closely with human relations, too, although it's hard to say who learned it from which.

Live and Learn

I suppose we must admit that ants have an edge on us, actually. I mean, we can go to the ants, us sluggards, and learn something from them and as long as we don't take it too much to heart we might be somewhat better off. But imagine the result if the ants came to us and considered our ways. Why, it would wreck ant-dom, that's what. Ants would never be the same again. They just couldn't stand contact with us.

So I guess that shows who are the good guys and who are the bad guys. But although it's risky for the ants and even for us, humans still like to pry into the secrets of the ant-hill. A lady scientist in New Jersey has been bending an ear to the heap and now announces that ants can talk and we can hear them.

It seems they communicate by snapping their leg joints, scraping their feet and rapping their jaws together (you'd think she had been looking in on this modern dance floor) and this brittle sort of conversation has been picked up on tape recorders.

I gather that we know how they say it, but we don't yet know what they say. However, it isn't hard to imagine what goes on.

Let's look in on a group of ants in their nest of an evening. (They think no humans are watching them, so they've stopped hurrying for a moment.)

First Ant: Ant alive, am I (scrape, scrape) brushed tonight!

Second Ant: Me, too (snap, snap). I think if I drag one more wasp body up that cliff I'll collapse.

Third Ant: Watch it, son. That's not ant talk (rap, rap, rap). If there were any sluggards around they might get a bad impression.

Fourth Ant: That's right (snap, snap). It may be ant-killing work but we have to do it.

First Ant: Of course (scrape, scrape). Third Ant: Of course (rap, rap).

Fourth Ant: Of course (snap, snap). Second Ant: Why?

First Ant: Huh? What's (scrape, scrape) that?

Third Ant: Did you say "Why?" (rap)?

Fourth Ant: What sort of talk is that (snap, snap)? I've never heard of such a thing (snap). "Why?" indeed!

Second Ant: Well (snap). I was just (snap, snap) wondering. Seems to me if we just worked part of the day it'd be more (snap) fun.

First Ant, Third Ant, Fourth Ant: Fun? What's fun? (Scrape, rap, snap, snap).

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Choking on Birds?

The Victoria Cat Protective League is extremely concerned about the failure of some of our Oak Bay cats to return home from their nocturnal wanderings.

Perhaps the poor things are choking on baby quail or some of the other wildlife goodies that pussy cats love to catch and eat.

Fear of Slums

It is said that the garden apartment project has been stalled by persons who fear future slums. Recently, a promise of the same kind of future was predicted for the high rise apartments.

In James Bay the garden apartments appeared as an answer in housing to people with children. It offered a district close in, good transportation, schools, shopping centre, the beauty of the shore line, flowers, parks and the lovely old architecture, to remind us of its usefulness as a part of Victoria in the past 100 years.

Too much thought about the beauty of Victoria which it already has to offer in plenty and too little about the welfare of the people who cannot afford expensive apartment housing, would cause one to wonder if the future plans for James Bay will only include plans for the welcome tourist and the rich apartment dweller.

To date no one has said how to build in James Bay without the promise of future slums. Why? Any offer to build is shaken by such fears. Even the promise of flowers around a new building cannot fool the experts. They do not see the lovely flowers, just slums.

Motels and Judgment

In the Times of Aug. 16, Arthur Mayse voiced his opinion on "motels" in British Columbia.

There are some unattractive and unkept motels, just as there are some unattractive hotels in B.C. as well as other provinces and countries. However, as individuals we can make our choice of accommodation. If we choose one not up to standards, then our judgment is poor! After all, the owners just display their signs and advertise their establishments. Tourists are not forced to register anywhere against their will!

Mr. Mayse should not use such rude expressions as "gawp" in his column. He referred to permanent renters doing this! I couldn't find such a word in the dictionary, but I presume it is slang for "stare."

Most of the "motel" owners depend a lot on these permanent renters for their income during the year. There are only four months of the tourist season, but folk have to live twelve! Another thing, if the councils in towns and cities in British Columbia would build housing estates for rental purposes at reasonable rents, the "motels" could be entirely reserved for tourists. There are lots of people with small incomes who cannot afford to save for the down payment on a house, and there are few houses for rent in most cities. So "motel" living is their only means of having a roof over their heads, even if it is a leaky one!

Express your opinions by all means, Mr. Mayse, some of them are sound ones—but, please, be tactful. Consider people's feelings. Lots of nice families live in seedy hutsches, because the council or provincial governments fail to provide suitable housing for them.

In Britain housing trusts and councils have been building housing sites for years. When that happens here, there'll be no more "gawping" permanent renters in motels. I wonder will that ever happen! A little bit of thought for the council!

Fluoridation

A fairly recent Times editorial suggested we should now accept artificial fluoridation and it ridiculed those who still hold out against it.

Fluoridation sounds reasonable on the surface but there must be some good reason why Sweden has banned it. W. D. Costain, M.D. wrote in the Dec. 1, 1959 issue of the Canadian Medical Journal. "There is clinical proof to show that the unstable forms of fluoride deprive the blood tissues of calcium. In that way they exert their poisonous effect, which is mild or lethal, according to the quantity of fluoride present. Of course calcium fluoride does not act in that way as it already has its full quota of calcium and is a stable product—sodium fluoride is not to be taken internally while, on the other hand, calcium fluoride can be taken without any apparent ill effects."

So we see that the artificial sodium fluoride is a dangerous substitute for the Creator's calcium fluoride.

We cannot achieve good health by continuing to ignore His holy laws—which ignorance is the cause of our ills.

We cannot imitate His chemistry with substitutes. Until we become conscious of the causes of our ills, we are only heaping more of the effects upon ourselves. Tooth decay does not stem from lack of calcium in water but in the use of man-adulterated foodstuffs.

The fluoridation issue is still a moral one. Chlorine, when added to the water, acts upon the water, killing the impurities. Fluorine, when added to the water, acts upon the human body. This addition then, is therefore medication and deprives us of freedom of choice.

Shadow On the UN

By ALISTAIR COOKE
From New York

THE rumor that Mr. Khrushchev was coming to the United Nations General Assembly next month first flitted through the headquarters building like a family ghost.

Although it has now been discounted by Mr. Khrushchev's own statement, the Secretariat is haunted by the shadow its truth would throw across the path of U Thant.

Until now, whenever the question of the Hammarskjöld succession was brought up, the Secretariat tiptoed around with its fingers crossed, hoping that the Russians were liking U Thant, or not noticing him, or not bothering to work up an indictment until it was too late to prevent his election to a full five-year term as Secretary-General.

U Thant himself is probably undecieved by the Russians' surface amiability, for though he is a socially responsive man, as Hammarskjöld was not, he is also a Buddhist given to routine meditation on the treachery of appearances. He is just as scrupulous "a curator of the secrets of (104) nations" as Hammarskjöld, the corner of the phrase. But he is impermeable, fool-proof, and leakproof.

The United States and other Western delegations have been quietly sounding out Afro-Asian delegates in the hope of hearing that there is a stampede for U Thant which even Mr. Khrushchev could not head off. The West is almost paranoid in its desire not to seem to have a candidate at all; but everyone knows that U Thant is the man.

He was accepted with palpable relief by the Russians as an able but obscure representative of the continents they hoped first to influence and then to win. There seemed little prospect a year ago that Mr. Khrushchev could make him out to be, like the hounded Hammarskjöld, "a Western colonialist lackey."

But the events of the past week, to go back no farther, are fanning doubts about the innocuousness of the Acting Secretary-General in the Russian view. U Thant can now be seen to be pressing, "short of force," the Security Council's two resolutions of July and November, 1961, which the Russians for once evidently misreading the powerful interpretation they could be made to bear, have tried and failed to set aside.

With Dispatch

The second one in particular approved after Hammarskjöld's death, laid it down that secession against the Republic of the Congo was contrary to the Security Council's guiding decisions and that Katanga should toe the line immediately. U Thant took this to mean exactly what it said, and is moving with dispatch towards effective sanctions against the Katangese whose government he dared to say is run, by "elovms."

The cease-fire between Holland and Indonesia, and the agreement on Western New Guinea is more serious still as an overt, almost cunning success in foiling the Russians' plans to foment a first-class "racial" war. It is regarded here frankly as a personal triumph for U Thant.

He began to bring the Dutch and the Sukarno Governments together as soon as he took office, he recognized the primacy of the Papuan question, insisted on the just motives of the two parties, and simply ignored the flood of Russian supplies and the nervous, and in the end foolish, pressure of Mr. Mikoyan.

U Thant's third and favorite preoccupation is with the so-called Development Decade, the effort of the UN to mobilize the experts of the developed world (in nutrition, education, health, and productivity) to triple the average income and lift the living standards of the whole under-developed world in the next 10 years.

It is a vast and complex undertaking and one to which U Thant is nowadays giving most of his time. He has called the "division between the rich nations and the poor nations more serious and ultimately more dangerous than the division of the world on ideological grounds."

Perhaps the Russians think so too. But after the Congo and the adroit diplomacy with the Dutch and the Indonesians it would be odd if they didn't think again about the functions and the future of the bland, impassive schoolteacher from Burma.

Sad Evening

Recent Letter in The Ottawa Journal

Sirs: A well-produced CBC documentary is a joy to watch, their poorer efforts catastrophic. The documentary "Victoria—100 years old," shown the other night on CBOT fell into the latter category. To all those who know and love the beauty of Victoria it was a sad evening.

Viewers were given intimate little peeps at tourists embarking from the ferry and muttering indistinguishable phrases. The camera then followed some of these tourists to the Empress Hotel where we were shown the back of the male receptionist's head and were allowed to listen in on a few conversations regarding the price of rooms at the Empress. Later we visited the front lobby of the Empress where we were treated to full scale views of ladies eating crumpets, with subsequent damage to their chins, and the camera gave us a close-up of dirty dishes on a table.

The program continued with views of a page boy walking down a long, long corridor at the hotel, a well-known B.C. historian reading names of long-dead people from the gravestones at Ross Bay cemetery and a very reticent lady obviously extremely uncomfortable being questioned as to why she continued to occupy her rather historic home.

This all finished up with a remark by the commentator that Victoria also had some young people and an immediate switch to a drag strip outside the town where we were shown roaring cars, engines, gum chewing teenagers and a man leaping up and down waving a flag.

After seeing this program on Victoria, I am sure that anyone contemplating a holiday in this fair city, would cancel all plans immediately.

Money Supply Tightens

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor
Contraction of the money supply by the Bank of Canada continued again last week with the tightening amounting to $13 million — a modest amount in comparison with the contractions of some recent weeks.

However, in the eight-week period from the time the national financial crisis was revealed following the general election, money has been tightened some $476 million — from $15,565,000 to $15,089,000 — by the central bank.

Volume of loans of all types, which had shown a rapid rise until week before last, have showed a decline in the past few weeks. General loans dropped by $31 million to $6,667 million; bank day-to-day loans were down by $11 million to $92 million; and bank call loans, which rose slightly last week, were down again to $60 million.

According to the latest James Richardson and Sons report, the money market has continued to improve due to continued account buying and little or no chartered bank selling.
The banks have started to replenish their treasury bill holdings — reflected in the strong market Thursday which saw the 90-day bills drop in yield from 5.12 per cent to 4.95 per cent — and are expected to continue to do so until early December when a rise in notes in circulation will probably tighten the system over the holidays.

The U.S. Commerce Department survey of foreign spending estimates by U.S. firms shows there is $1.1 billion earmarked for expansion and improvement of plant and equipment in Canada this year.

This is almost double the spending in Canada by U.S. firms last year and could help considerably in relieving pressure on the foreign exchange fund.

The Canadian outlays are $31 million in manufacturing, up $30 million from last year; $345 million in petroleum, up $5 million; $200 million in mining and smelting, up $35 million and $166 million in other industries, down $9 million.

The survey said that estimates of 1963 spending in Canada were down by about $5 million from 1962 at the present time.

Western Mines Ltd., which has been showing signs of activity in the stock market, has reported that in the last 400 feet of drifting in the Lynx zone at the Butte Lake property vein widths of from one to 30 feet have been encountered and the ore grade has confirmed the good diamond drill hole assays.

However, J. A. C. Ross, managing director, stated that average grade in the drift cannot be calculated yet nor can a new tonnage figure be given until crosscuts and diamond drilling have established widths and grades at regular intervals.

The drift is being advanced about 25 feet a day and will be continued for a minimum distance of 1,100 feet, 700 feet from the present face.

PARKING BAN ON DOUGLAS REAFFIRMED

Ban on parking along Douglas Street between Saanich Road and the Fountain Circle has been reaffirmed by the Capital Improvement District Commission.
Recently imposed, the parking ban was a condition of the CIDC's offer to pay for the $175,000 beautification project along that section of Douglas.
Decision to have the parking ban was unanimous, said J. Everett Brown, chairman of the commission.

Two major points were taken into consideration, he said: Merchants affected had "considerable notice" of the ban.
A heavily-travelled highway does not lend itself to parking.

UNDER ATTACK
Meanwhile, Ald. Michael Griffin attacked the parking ban, asserting that it "serves no useful purpose."

Small merchants located on both sides of Douglas north of the Fountain Circle are suffering hardship as a result of it, he said.

Chairman of the city's special traffic committee, Ald. Griffin said a check revealed that the curb lane, previously used for parking, was still not carrying traffic.

"I can see these people (small merchants) really do have a legitimate complaint," he said.
One merchant wrote to City Hall to say her daily take was down to $2 a day as a result of the parking ban.

Saanich M.L.A. John Tisdale also has asked for relaxation of the parking ban, expressing concern for the future of small business.

Death Blamed On Wet Road, Inattention

A coroner's jury ruled Thursday that John Carlson, 19, of 1010 Jasmine, Saanich, died from an accident caused by "hazardous wet road conditions" and "driving an automobile without due care and attention" on Shelbourne near Torquay early Sunday.

Carlson died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday afternoon following an accident at around 2:30 a.m. when he was flung from his car and crushed under its wheels as it careened off a tree.

A pelvic hemorrhage was blamed as the ultimate cause of death. It was discovered during a post-mortem examination.

Robert Martin, 19, of 1563 Richardson Street, said a bump in Shelbourne Street near Feltham caused Carlson to lose control of the car.

Martin was the owner of the vehicle, and a passenger in it at the time of the accident.

"As far as I recall, there was a small bump in the road and due to the speed the car had bounced," he said.

"It proceeded to spin and he tried to fight it on the road and then he lost control and then I don't remember..."
Saanich police Cpl. Robert Coleman told the jury he had never had any difficulty in driving over the bump in Shelbourne at Feltham.

TIMETABLES JUGGLED TO PERMIT TRAVEL

Shuttle Bus Will Link College Campuses

Victoria College authorities have reached agreement with the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority bus service to enable operation of a two-campus system starting Sept. 17.

College already was committed for reasons of space to using both the old Lansdowne Road and new Gordon Head campuses this year.

Most of the faculty of education and pre-engineering students will attend lectures at Gordon Head in army huts until the Clearhues building containing classrooms to accommodate 850 students is completed. The remainder will attend lectures on the old campus.

Hydro and Power authority will run a shuttle bus service, leaving each campus in turn every half-hour.

START WITH ONE

It is intended to start with just one bus until it can be determined how many students intend to use the service. Many have their own cars.

The shuttle service will not start until 9:30 a.m., although classes are scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. Therefore, the authority has agreed to extend the University bus route out to the new campus until 9:30.

The two-headed campus has necessitated juggling college time tables so that classes will be held on the hour at Gordon Head, and on the half hour at Lansdowne.

This will enable students to travel from one to the other if necessary in time for the next lecture. The bus trip will take eight minutes.

Foul Bay Road parking lot is at present being paved for use by the bus as a terminus at the old campus.

Free "Sick Motor" Guide cures many engine ills

Tells how to cure sick engines and prevent expensive repairs

Rislone "Sick Motor" Guide helps you diagnose and cure engine trouble before it gets expensive. It shows you how a shot of two of Rislone can turn the most sluggish, sick engine into a smooth operating, efficient power plant. It's free.

GUIDE SPELLS OUT TREATMENT FOR MOST ENGINE AILMENTS

An automotive expert has prepared the Rislone "Sick Motor" Guide. This one handy chart can help find the cause and the cure for 80 to 90% of the automobile engine problems. It is honest in its recommendations. Where overhaul or parts replacement is required—where a mechanic's counsel is advisable—it is so recommended. In many instances nothing more than a shot or two of Rislone or S-200 is called for to help you restore peak engine power and performance.

Every automobile driver will want to have a copy of this complete

"Sick Motor" Guide to hang in his garage or basement. To get your copy, send your name and address to The Shaler Company, Dept. C34-7, Waupun, Wisconsin. Enclose 10c for postage and handling.

Rislone is not a cure-all. Used regularly however, it can help prevent or cure most engine troubles encountered by drivers. Rislone dissolves engine-gum and sludge deposits, frees sticky valves, restores lost compression. In fact, Rislone has such immediate effect on a car's performance, the driver notices the difference in just 10 miles of driving.

Apprenticeship Conference Opens In Vancouver Oct. 4

Government officials will meet with labor and management representatives in an apprenticeship conference at Vancouver, October 4 and 5, Labor Minister Peterson announced.

The conference, organized by the Provincial Department of Labor, is to be held under the theme "Apprenticeship in Action" and will be officially opened by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Major addresses will be given by Mr. Peterson; Dr. W. R. Dymond, assistant deputy minister of the Federal Department of Labor, and R. H. MacCush, assistant director of the Federal Department of Labor's technical and vocational branch.

The conference, which will feature several panel discussions, will outline the next steps to be taken towards apprenticeship training.

"This conference is expected to lead the way in Canada and to result in substantial benefits to industry and the youth of British Columbia," Mr. Peterson said.

Theatre Guild Members Attend Howorth Funeral

Many members of Victoria Theatre Guild attended funeral services in Sands Funeral Home Tuesday for Miss Frances Howorth, 58, of 235 Cook, who died here recently.

"She was one of our most devoted members," one of the executive said, "and will be remembered for her outstanding roles in many Guild productions over the past 10 years."

Miss Howorth served both backstage and on the administrative board and played in a number of productions. She held the position of treasurer for two years.

She is best remembered for her role as Elwood's sister in "Harvey," the mammy in "And So to Bed," Aunt Julia in "Sabrina Fair," and the nurse in "The Chalk Garden."

Everything from tiddleywinks to tic-tac-toe

A sports menu to satisfy virtually every sportsman's appetite is the fare for the Labor Day weekend.

Like fishing? You can start at dawn Saturday to seek a coho in the Esquimalt Angler's Association annual Cerebral Palsy Derby. You don't have to let up in pursuit of the fighting fins until 7 p.m. Labor Day.

Cricket your dish? At beautiful Beacon Hill Park Saturday at 2, Albion and Cowichan collide in the Victoria Association Knockout Cup final.

Softball your dish? The B.C. Senior B men's championship tournament starts at noon Saturday, Heywood Park. Games follow at 2 p.m., 4 and 6:15. Sooke, Vancouver IWA, Victoria Merchants, Vancouver Merchants, Prince George and Trail are the combatants.

The double-loss elimination tourney continues, same place, same times, Sunday. Either two or three games, depending on how the ball (and the teams) bounce, will be played Monday with the first and the second at 3 p.m. and the championship game, if necessary, to follow immediately after.

If baseball gets your call, Royal Athletic Park will be the place to park Saturday through Monday. Victoria hosts Cumberland, Kelowna and Terrace in the best amateur baseball you can find in B.C. for the provincial title. Games are at 2 and 6 p.m. each day.

For the cauliflower and comedy cut there will be professional wrestling at Memorial Arena Saturday at 8:30.

Four bouts, highlighted by a tag team match pitting the brothers McClarty (Roy and Don) against H. B. Hagerty and Clyde Steeves, will be offered.

The screech of tires and the roar of red-hot exhausts will fill the air at Western Speedway on three successive nights. Modified and stockers lock bumpers in a challenge night competition Saturday, starting at 7:30. For six hours Sunday, starting at 2 p.m., the cream of the souped-up wagons will career around the Speedway in time trials for Monday's piece de resistance, the 150-lap Daffodil Cup race.

This Pacific northwest traffic competition for modified sportsmen brings together the 32 fastest cars (from the time trials) on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

For pigskin proponents, the long wait to hear the leather pop is almost over.

At 2 p.m. Sunday, Carnarvon Park, Oak Bay and Victoria Vampires lift the lid (doesn't every sport have a lid to be lifted?) off the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football season.

In Fraser Valley Junior League play, the hot Victoria team travels to Richmond.

Not part of the Labor Day menu but vital nonetheless is the opening game of the Minto Cup Canadian Junior Lacrosse championships series Tuesday at Memorial Arena, 8:30. The principals: Victoria and Brampton.

That's it. Take your pick. But don't say there's "nuttin' doin'" on the sports front in Victoria this weekend.

Reds' Last Gasp Relieves Giants

It's up to the San Francisco Giants, to overtake the Los Angeles Dodgers now—thanks to a last-gasp victory by the Cincinnati Reds.

Reds dropped the first two games of their crucial three-game series with the Dodgers and are all but mathematically out of the National League race but their 5-4 victory Thursday night kept the Giants within range of the front-runners.

Turning into the last month of the season, the Dodgers hold a 2 1/2 game lead over the Giants and a 5 1/2 game bulge over the Reds.

The Reds' Thursday night victory followed the Giants' 3-2 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves and means the Giants can still strike paydirt with a fast finish. The Reds? Well, it sure was a brilliant coup they pulled off in 1961. But this is 1962.

The Giants moved to within 2 1/2 games of the lead when Jack Sanford, aided by five relief pitchers, ran his personal winning streak to 13 games and raised his season record to 19-6. The Reds just did hold on, after scoring four runs in the first inning and cruising behind the shutout pitching of Jim O'Toole, when the Dodgers rallied for four runs in the last of the ninth.

Jim Davenport, returning to the lineup after missing 14 games with a broken hand, drove in the decisive run for the Giants with a homer in the sixth inning.

Winnipeg (CP)—Unable to get untracked in any department, Calgary Stampede dropped at 26-1 Western Football Conference game to league-leading Winnipeg Blue Bombers Thursday night and dropped deeper into the conference cellar.

The win was Bombers third in their first four games and leaves them a single point in front of Saskatchewan Roughriders in the standings with six points.

Tied a point behind Saskatchewan with two wins each are British Columbia Lions and Edmonton Eskimos. Stampede has managed only one win and tie in six games.

Winnipeg held a 1-0 lead after the first quarter, then leaped in front 22-0 at the half. After three quarters they led 23-1, Calgary getting its lone point on a single by defensive half and punter Walt Weaver when Bombers' Jack Deveau conceded a punt into the end zone.

Deveau scored two points, singles in each the first and third quarters, while halfback Leo Lewis scored his second and third touchdowns of the season and end Ernie Pitts his third.

To frost the cake, fullback Gerry James booted converts for all three touchdowns and added a fourth-quarter field goal.

One of the highlights of the game was the ability of the Winnipeg defence to hold Calgary's crashing fullback Earl Lunsford in check and to break up Stampeder pass plays.

Lunsford, who had averaged 116 yards a game in his first five was held to just 53 while Calgary's quarterback Gerry Keeling and Jim Walden were only able to complete eight of 25 pass attempts for 136 yards. Winnipeg quarterbacks completed 14 of 24 passes tried for 232 yards.

Winnipeg also came up with a couple of surprises in replacements for fullback—punter Charlie Shepard.

Deveau, who replaced him as punter booted 11 times for a 48-yard average after having a 51-yard average in the first half.

Taking Shepard's place in the backfield was towering Joe Williams, playing his first game after being flunked out of the University of Iowa.

Williams was the second longest runner for Bombers, picking up 50 yards in seven carries while Lewis went for 56 in nine.

In other statistics, Winnipeg went for 19 first downs compared with eight for Calgary and ran for 166 yards compared with Calgary's 70.

Of the two fumbles in the game, each team recovered one while Winnipeg picked off two Calgary passes.

Winnipeg was penalized twice for a total of 25 yards and Stampede three times for 15 yards.

Boys' Club of Victoria will hold two soccer practices Saturday at Central Junior High School grounds.

Boys 11 years and under will work at 10 a.m. Boys 12-15 will practice at 2 p.m.

LACROSSE PROTEST

Though soundly defeated in the B.C. final, Legion Thursday protested on technical grounds. Their beef: Victoria used some ineligible players.

Hee McNeill, Victoria manager, said he hopes to have a ruling on the protest by the B.C. Junior Lacrosse Association tonight. The expected verdict: protest disallowed.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, Brampton manager Larry Gibson says Armstrong's hopes of becoming Canadian champions rests mainly on a strong attack.

"We have a good goalie in Pete Kito, and a sound defence, but our main strength is a fast, powerful offence," he said in an interview Thursday night.

The team leaves by train from Toronto Saturday to meet Victoria Shamrocks in the Minto Cup final for the Canadian junior crown.

Spearheading the attack will be Don Arthur, leading scorer this season in the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior series. Other stars in the forward line are team captain Tom Conlin and Bob Haw, a power-play expert.

The Eastern champions have a young team. Of the 20 players making the trip to British Columbia all but three—John Soter, Norman Bignell and Dave Powell—will be eligible for junior play again next season.

Brampton won the right to represent Eastern Canada by beating last year's champions, Hastings, 4-2 in a best-of-seven series.

Riders Sign Fabi
REGINA (CP)—The Western Football Conference Saskatchewan Roughriders have acquired end Martin Fabi from the Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference. Fabi, junior last year, handled Alouette punting early in the season.

Team Berth Places Bill In Top Four

A 21-year-old Victoria golfer ranks today as one of Canada's top four amateurs.

The distinction fell Bill Wakeham's way with the announcement that the Gorge Vale swinger has been selected to play on Canada's four-man World Cup team.

Wakeham, who left Victoria late Thursday, was motoring to Nelson today for a tournament and unavailable for comment.

Joining Wakeham on the team that will compete in the international tournament in Japan next October are Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Nick Weslock of Toronto and Calgary's Bob Wylie.

Bruce Forbes of Brantford, Ont., chairman of the Royal Canadian Golf Association's selection committee also named Peter Hope of Dartmouth, N.S., Doug Silverberg of Calgary and Johnny Johnston of Vancouver as alternates.

SIZZLED AT TRAIL
Wakeham, B.C. amateur kingpin, marked up an impressive record in the Canadian Amateur but it was his showing in the Trail Open last weekend that really swayed the committee.

Crediting a new-found stance for greater putting accuracy, he easily outdistanced a field that included several top-ranked professionals in winning with an eight-under-par score.

His mark in the last four Canadian Amateur championships also helped. Medalist at Edmonton last year with a record score, Wakeham has never failed to qualify for the national tourney.

He has always managed to reach at least the third round and twice was beaten by players who went on to win the Canadian title. This year, newly-crowned Canadian champion Reg Taylor of South Africa beat Wakeham, one up, in the quarterfinals.

In 1959, Johnston beat Wakeham in the third round and went on to win the title.

HIGH HONORS fell Bill Wakeham's way today when Victoria golfer (above) was named to Canada's World Cup team. The 21-year-old former Times Open champion will compete in world meet in Japan in October.

Don't exaggerate the backswing motion. Some golfers let the clubhead lag at this point shown in the sketch as they try too hard to keep the clubhead low and their wrists uncocked.

The illustration shows good form as the backswing begins. If the club were at the dotted lines, however, the golfer would be guilty of letting the clubhead lag.

Cure this trouble by making sure your backswing is a one-piece swing. The hands should not get ahead of the body in swinging the club back and pivoting the body to the right. If they start the backswing together, they should continue it together. Don't let any one of them get ahead or fall behind.

The backswing should be a continuous motion with all these elements playing their proper parts. Remember—swing the club back.

GRID LEAGUE WARNS AGAINST USE OF DRUGS

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Intermediate Football Conference has announced Wednesday that any player caught using barbiturates before or during a game will be automatically suspended.

The announcement followed the death Monday of Robert McArdle, 28-year-old tackle with the Trois-Rivieres Braves. An autopsy attributed death to over-exertion brought on by a large dose of stimulants. A provincial police investigation is underway to determine what kind of stimulants McArdle was using when he collapsed during a game Sunday.

Russian Squad Plays In East

TORONTO (CP) — A Russian all-star hockey team will play at the Maple Leaf Gardens Nov. 23, it was announced today, but the opposition for the touring Russians has not been decided.

A suggestion that the Russians play Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League is reported to have had a cool reception with coach Punch Imlach since it will come within 24 hours of a regular NHL Saturday night game.

Another suggestion is that the Russians play an all-star team from the Ontario Hockey Association Metro Junior League.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Little Cliff Sepka continues to blow a king-sized hurricane in the playoffs, and for that reason New Westminster is back on even terms with Vancouver in their best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League final.

Sepka, who had scored three goals in each of his previous two playoff outings, added five more Thursday night as Westminster deadlocked the series with a rowdy 11-9 victory.

New Westminster led throughout the contest which broke up in a donnybrook involving four players with four minutes remaining.

Referees handed out 88 minutes in penalties, 10 of them to New Westminster's Jack Barclay who broke the rules by trying to break up the brawl between teammate Ron Loftus and Wayne Pecknold.

The fourth combatant, Wayne Shuttleworth of Vancouver, was penalized for 10 minutes for protesting to the referee.

New Westminster took a 4-2 lead in the first quarter, made it 6-3 at halftime and 8-6 in the third on Bill Jobb's two-goal effort and singles from Jack Blonda, Bill Wilkes, Paul Parnell and Barclay.

Bill Barbour and Fred Usselman led Vancouver with two goals each.

The series continues in Vancouver Tuesday night. The western champs will meet the eastern Canadian titlist in the Mann Cup finals at Brampton next month.

Uelses Set Down For $183 Vault

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — John Uelses of the United States, first man to pole vault 16 feet, has been suspended from amateur competition for allegedly demanding and receiving money to perform.

The move was announced Tuesday by Mrs. June Krauser, chairman of the Florida Gold Coast chapter of the Amateur Athletic Union.

She said Uelses was accused of "demanding and receiving $183 from the Hollywood (Fla.) Optimistic Club . . . before jumping in the Hollywood Optimist relays March 24, 1962."

Uelses was reported to be in Washington since his discharge from the U.S. Marines last April. Uelses told his wife last week: "Don't worry, everything will be straightened out."

Hamilton Places Jeter on Waivers

Protective List Validity Tested

WINNIPEG (CP) — The legality of the Canadian Football League's intermediate protective list was challenged in a statement of claim filed in Court of Queen's Bench Thursday against the Winnipeg Football Club.

Al Ackland, 22, of Winnipeg, claims the Blue Bomber club has unlawfully restrained him from attempting to play professional football elsewhere in Canada by placing him on the protective list.

In the claim, lawyer Philip G. Nutter maintains that the football club should be required to pay damages for salary loss sustained when they cut Ackland from their active playing roster earlier this month.

'HIRE OR RELEASE'
The protective list enables each CFL club to protect a limited number of players on affiliated intermediate rosters, for up to two years.

A graduate of Winnipeg junior football, Ackland first signed a try-out contract with the Bombers in 1961, and was cut from their active roster after two league games.

He returned to intermediate football that year with Elmwood Colts, and signed another tryout contract with Bombers this year. He was cut before the team's first league game. The claim contends that Bombers placed Ackland on the

Licence Examiners Tough, Hardy Breed

By ARTHUR MAYSE

Here's a message from senior examiner William Moore of the motor vehicle branch to the lady who tomorrow will be twisting her little white gloves nervously in his crowded salon as she waits for her very first driver's test.

Don't worry, urges this amiable if slightly battered veteran of the suicide seat. If you make a kangaroo start with parking brake on, the examiner isn't going to flunk you out of hand. Also, even if it's your tough luck to be the third colorblind woman in bureau history, your chance of winning that folded-cardboard passport to the highway remains good.

But... For your sake more than the examiner's (he's hardened to thrills and chills) don't peel away from the curb into traffic without a checking glance and a hand signal.

WATCH LIGHTS

Don't assay a lefthand turn from the curb lane, or vice versa. Don't run a red light or a stop sign, and watch those crosswalks—they're dynamite.

And if by some remote chance you do fall, feel free to call on Mr. Moore and his six examiners again. Not everyone makes it first try.

While carefully chosen and trained, our examiners aren't mean-tough. They actually like to see their fledglings pass, and never employ trick questions or commands.

Kind-heartedness isn't the entire reason, though. A tense rookie bucking for his licence may react over-explicitly to an order.

"Turn left!" one examiner directed, and his driver did—in the middle of the block, on a tangent that took his car through a fence and into a house porch.

Understandably, examiners come equipped with steel nerves. Bill Moore can cite a list of injuries that range from broken ribs to cut forehead to skinned nose and elbow, and no man of his but bears a scar.

Vancouver drivers, Mr. Moore says cautiously, "are perhaps more traffic conscious than those of Victoria," and although the male tends to be more aggressive than the female, men's and women's driving habits tend to draw from individual personality rather than gender.

Take the case of the woman called in for re-examination after wheeling through a succession of red lights.

TOO BUSY

"Oh, I can't be bothered about those," she protested. "I'm too busy watching out for traffic!"

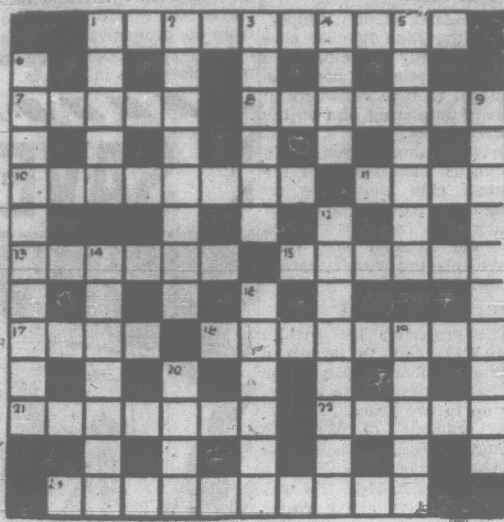

Then there was the client who couldn't tell—till she found out the hard way—whether the hay-laden truck was coming or going, and the dear old couple who showed up at the bureau together.

"This one hurt," Mr. Moore said, "but we had to turn the man down because of hopelessly poor eyesight. But John's eyes don't matter, his wife told us. I'll be with him. I can watch for traffic signs while he drives."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

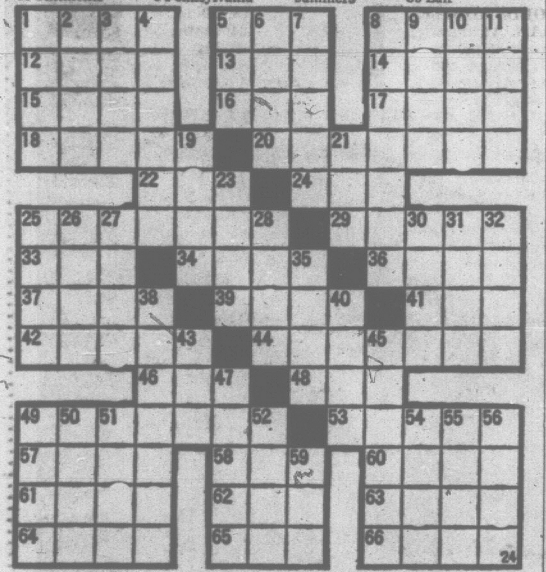

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Helen Livingstone, 13, Spokane, Wash., for her question:

How Thick Is the Earth's Atmosphere?

We know that the air is thinner on a mountain top and climbers of Mount Everest, which is in Asia, have to use extra oxygen supplies long before they reach the peak. There is a lot of other evidence to indicate that the air is thickest near the earth and gets thinner as we reach up to some high point where it finally merges with the nothingness of space.

When we speak of a thick fog, we mean a dense fog. Thick air also can mean dense air or air in which the particles are closely packed together. It is more accurate, however, to call this the density of air. When we speak

Far Too Thin

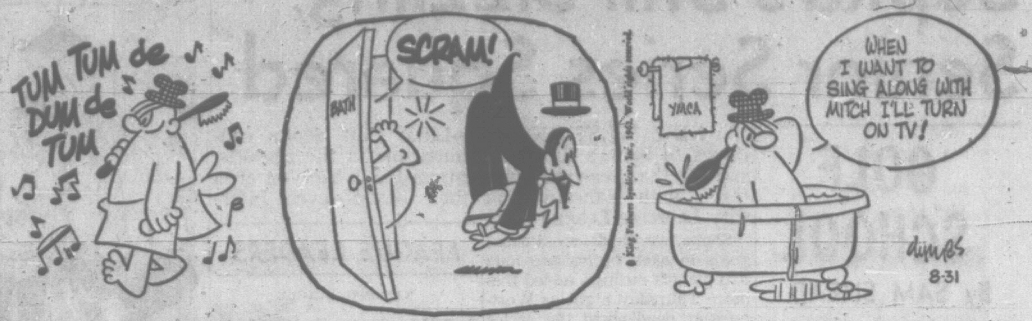

At 20 miles up, the air pressure is about 0.18 pounds. This is very thin air, far too thin for living conditions, and as we proceed higher it becomes even thinner. There is still air, however, at 100, 200 and even 500 miles, though the gaseous particles are becoming more widely separated. There are enough air particles at 600 miles to add a touch of glory to the dazzling northern lights. We do not know for certain, but there may be a few particles of air gases 1,000 miles above the earth.

There is a relationship, then, between the density-thickness and the depth-thickness of the atmosphere. The problem is somewhat like cutting a piece of string in half, and in half again and again until the sections are too small to be seen. The atmosphere reaches up, getting thinner and thinner, and where it ends nobody knows.

Telstar to Japan Up by Next Year

Communication 'At Any Length'
Too Late for 1964 Olympic Games

TOKYO (AP)—The United States hopes to put a telstar into high enough orbit to communicate with Japan by next year, but it does not expect to establish sustained contact in time for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, a U.S. official said today.

Dr. Leonard Jaffe, communications director for the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Agency, told interviewers telecasts of any duration Japan and the U.S. West Coast are unlikely before late 1964 "at the earliest."

At a press conference marking the close of a symposium on space technology, Jaffe said Japan would have "one, possibly two" satellite tracking stations going by mid-1963.

"If there is an operational satellite in the sky at that time, the Japanese can begin space communications experiments at once," he said. "The present Telstar orbits too low for communications between Tokyo and California but we probably will try to put a later Telstar and relay satellites into higher orbits. This would permit brief communications between the U.S. and Japan via satellite."

Jaffe noted that West Germany, Italy and Brazil had joined Britain and France in building tracking stations.

He said that with satellites orbiting the earth at altitudes of more than 5,000 miles, some 20 satellites would be required for sustained international communications.

The symposium was attended by scientists from the United States, Japan, Britain, Canada, India and Pakistan.

BBG Heeds Request To Cut Expenditure

By DON HANRIGHT
OTTAWA (CP)—The austerity pinch on the publicly-owned CBC was heeded by the Board of Broadcast Governors today as it reserved decision on three CBC projects in eastern Canada for which the corporation now lacks the funds.

(Informed sources in Ottawa Thursday said the CBC had been asked to halve its $10,572,000 capital budget.)

The BBG announcement made no reference to the question of the Grey Cup football telecast Dec. 1.

The board had proposed an amendment requiring all TV stations in Canada—including the CBC's public and private network outlets—to carry the eight-city CTV network's telecast of the football classic, complete with commercials.

In an Aug. 18 Ottawa hearing, the CBC said it refuses to accept commercials with the CTV telecast and claimed that CTV reneged on an earlier offer of a "feed" to the CBC with ads eliminated. The corporation also said it has justice department advice that the proposal is beyond the BBG's powers.

Also spelled out today was this new BBG policy:

"The board is in general opposed to the establishment of new, ostensibly local, radio stations on the fringes of metropolitan areas if the signals and the business potentials of such stations overlap a large part of such metropolitan areas."

BBC Has Doubled Can TV Exports

LONDON (Reuters)—The public-owned BBC more than doubled its exports of canned television programs during 1961-62. Total sales to 87 countries rose from 1,200 to 3,000 programs, it was announced today.

WOMAN FALLS FROM AIRLINER

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Olga Gomez, 23, a stewardess, fell 18,000 feet to her death Thursday when a door in an Argentine airliner opened accidentally on a flight from Tucuman to Buenos Aires.

'Rash' Sparks Smallpox Scare

NEW YORK (AP)—Two suspected cases of smallpox which caused a quarantine of 200 persons at Idlewild International Airport today were diagnosed later as "most likely" chicken pox.

Extensive tests were continued at Bellevue Hospital, however.

The diagnosis, by United States public health service officials, was reported by Dr. Stanley Goldstein, night supervisor at Bellevue Hospital, a few minutes after two children with "a bad rash" arrived here.

The children were in a Philadelphia family group which came off a plane from Brazil.

As soon as the rash was discovered, public health service officers imposed a smallpox quarantine order on the plane's 122 passengers and 10 crew members and on many airport employees who had contact with those on the plane.

Doctors gave vaccinations at the airport as those quarantined lined up.

John Dee, the British astrophysicist who died in 1963, was also a famous magician and noted mathematician.

PORK-LOVING BEAR KILLED ON SIXTH TRIP TO PIGPEN

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A bear with a taste for choice cuts of pork and an eye for traps made one too many raids in nearby Coquitlam Thursday night.

Fredator hunter Jack Lay shot the 300-pound brute when it came back for its sixth kill at Leonard Picton's pig farm.

Lay had set traps around the farm after the bear had killed five pigs but the bear slipped through the traps and made off with another pig.

Picton said the bear carried the 50-pound pigs 100 yards into the bush and ate only the liver, lungs and other tender parts.

31 Per Cent of Britain's Teen-Age Brides Pregnant

MANCHESTER, England—Thirty-one per cent of the British teen-age brides in a recent survey were pregnant when they married, a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

Griselda Rowntree, a sociologist at the London School of Economics, said the figure compared with only 13 per cent of the older women in the survey of 3,000 men and women.

She also reported that marriages between teenagers are twice as common in Britain as they were 30 years ago.

TOT PROVED NO PIGEON

STEVENAGE, England (AP)—Two-year-old Catherine Burton watched the birds swooping round her nursery window and decided Thursday to try flying for herself.

She plunged 18 feet to a concrete path—but her fall was broken by a clothes line. Before being taken to hospital, little Cathy told her mother: "I only wanted to fly like the pigeons."

Said Mrs. Edna Burton, 33: "Cathy is barmy about birds."

Hospital report on Cathy: Minor internal injuries but she's doing "fine."

Partial Sight Regained By Acid-Burned Bride

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Hanja Piller deKaplan, whose doctor-husband maimed her to "keep her from being an adultress" has been taken off the critical list.

Doctors at Santa Clara County Hospital said condition of the 25-year-old former model and showgirl has improved. She has regained complete vision in one acid-burned eye, but it is uncertain whether sight can be restored in the other.

The blonde Hungarian refugee was slashed with a butcher knife and seared with acids over 40 per cent of her body Tuesday by Dr. Geza deKaplan, 36, former Hungarian freedom fighter and her husband of five weeks.

Police say he has admitted subjecting his wife to the painful ordeal. He is being held in jail on a charge of attempted murder.

The anesthetist told police he became suspicious of her being unfaithful, and wanted to "take her beauty away."

4 Die In Crash Of 6 Vehicles At Road Repairs

EDMONTON (CP)—Three women and a man are dead and three other persons were in hospital today as a result of a pile-up of six vehicles at a road construction project 15 miles west of here Thursday.

Four cars, an oil truck and a truck loaded with grain telescoped when one of the vehicles slowed down or stopped about three miles east of Spruce Grove on Highway 16. RCMP, wrecking crews and ambulance attendants removed two bodies from the twisted cars. A third person died on the way to hospital, and a fourth died in hospital here about 3½ hours after the crash.

IDENTIFY DEAD

The dead were identified as Mrs. Frances A. Donald, 51, and Mike Gordashko, 65, both of Edmonton; Mrs. Nancy Leona Milne, 23, of Vancouver, and Alice Verena Weber, 50, of Delburne, Alta.

All six vehicles were heading west when they reached a spot where construction crews were re-topping the highway. As the vehicles in turn piled into each other, wreckage, grain and spilled oil spread across the highway, blocking traffic. It was more than two hours before RCMP had traffic moving normally again.

TO AVERT BIGAMY CHARGE

Sophia's Marriage Voided

MILAN, Italy (AP)—A Mexican court has voided the Mexican proxy marriage of film star Sophia Loren and producer Carlo Ponti, their Italian lawyer said today.

Floating Hotel To Quit Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—The floating hotel ship Dominion Monarch is cutting short its World's Fair stay because it isn't making money.

Seattle financier E. A. Black said Thursday the British liner leaves Sept. 10. Black's charter runs through Oct. 21, when the fair ends.

He said the 682-foot vessel had lost money, but he didn't know how much. He said the demand for rooms wasn't up to expectations.

All reservations beyond Sept. 10 will be taken over by Western Hotels, which has operated the ship for Black.

The action may save the couple from a bigamy trial in Italy. Legal sources said the charges may be dropped.

Attorney Mario Luzzati said he had received word that a court at Ciudad Juarez had declared the marriage "non-existent"—that Miss Loren, 27, and Ponti, 46, had never been married.

The pair had asked for the nullification because of Italian law, not because of romantic difficulties.

"We are very much in love and consider ourselves married," Miss Loren has said. "Legal technicalities cannot change our feelings about each other."

Two months ago an investigating judge in Rome, acting as a one-man grand jury, ordered Miss Loren and Ponti to stand trial.

Ponti has a Mexican divorce from his first wife, but Roman Catholic Italy does not recognize divorce. He was charged with bigamy. Miss Loren, who had never married before, was charged with concurrence in bigamy.

No trial date had been set, and the two were at liberty awaiting the start of court action. The charges carried a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

Sleeping Sickness Outbreak

8 Florida Deaths Blamed on Disease

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—An outbreak of sleeping sickness, an unusual disease that affects the brain and nervous system, has hit this Florida west-coast resort area.

Pinellas County officials have reported 108 suspected cases of the illness, formally called encephalitis, and say they suspect eight deaths have been caused by it.

Publicity about the illness has brought repercussions.

Motel and hotel operators along the gulf coast beaches say they have received numerous reservation cancellations, although most report they are filled up for the three-day Labor Day weekend.

Dr. Harry C. Oard, director of the country's communicable disease division, which is responsible for fighting the epidemic, resigned suddenly Wednesday without comment.

Sources close to the situation said Oard may have resigned because of pressure put on the health department by business and tourist interests in the county.

Health officials say the disease is caused by the bite of a certain type of mosquito. It cannot be transmitted from one person to another. The mosquito gets the sleeping sickness virus from infected birds that migrate to the St. Petersburg area.

An all-out spraying campaign is on to try to eradicate the mosquitoes.

New Talks Today In Bid to End U.S. Rail Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—Management and union officials arranged new talks today in an attempt to get trains rolling on the strikebound Chicago and North Western Railway.

The walkout Thursday morning by fewer than 1,000 members of the AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers made a ghost carrier out of the North Western, the third largest U.S. rail system.

The strike over job elimination issues halted all trains on the 10,600 miles of tracks used by the railroad in nine mid-western states. Members of other rail unions refused to cross the telegraphers' picket lines.

Road In Poor Shape

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce wants Highways Minister Gagliardi to drive over the Alberni-Tofino Road.

The 63 miles of unpaved road between Sproat Lake and the junction with the Ucluelet-Tofino Road is in terrible shape, the Chamber was told.

RCMP Undercover Agents Picked Up at Inn Raid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five police undercover officers were drinking and gambling at Wigwam Inn as fellow officers moved in for a Saturday night raid.

One of the five, Const. Bill Humphris, in testifying to this Thursday, said he was arrested in the raid and lodged overnight in jail.

Const. Humphris, 32, gave evidence in the fourth day of the preliminary hearing in North Vancouver where three men face charges of bribery and conspiracy to bribe a police officer.

NEW BOMB 'NUCLEAR DETERGENT'

SALISBURY, Eng. (AP)—A soapflake bomb which the British Army calls its nuclear detergent burst into a mushroom cloud over military training grounds here Thursday. The bomb is made from 25 pounds of high explosive, six large packs of soapflakes and some waste oil. The bomb is used to simulate nuclear warfare in manoeuvres here by Gurkha riflemen.

Low Fallout From Soviet Bomb Tests

OTTAWA (CP)—There has been no radioactive fallout on Canada from current Russian nuclear tests on anything like the scale of last fall, officials said Thursday.

This has led to some speculation here that the Soviet Union has developed a "clean" bomb—that is, one from which there is little or no radioactive fallout.

It is known that the Russian nuclear tests last fall were "cleaner" than previous Soviet tests. In the words of the scientists, there was 80 per cent cleanliness compared with 50 to 60 per cent cleanliness in Soviet tests which preceded the Russian-broken moratorium of 1958-61.

ENORMOUS YIELD

The 80-per-cent cleanliness was on a total, enormous yield of about 120 megatons, equivalent to 120,000,000 tons of TNT, in approximately 50 atmospheric tests.

The 20-per-cent dirtiness caused an outcry around the world, and Canada lodged two strong protests in the United Nations.

There have been eight known Soviet tests in the latest series but, officials said, there has been no marked increase in the level of short-lived radiation as there was last year, when the government kept the Canadian public posted almost day by day on the radiation count.

Neither has there been, officials said, any evidence of a rise in the radioactive iodine-131 count in fluid milk as has occurred in the United States mid-west.

U.K. Fascist March Banned

LONDON (AP)—London's police commissioner Thursday banned the march Sir Oswald Mosley's fascist Union Movement had planned for Sunday.

Meanwhile, formation of a London anti-fascist committee, to co-ordinate the activities of political parties, religious bodies, trade unions and representatives of the arts in opposing a revival of the fascist movement, was announced.

OBJECT OF VAST SEARCH—Suzanne Grskovic, 14, was found strangled to death in her home in Queens, New York, on Thursday. Walter Tjunn, 17, of Flushing, N.Y., has been booked on first degree homicide charge. (AP Wirephoto.)

Drug Deformed Baby Helped by Surgery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Doctors say they have successfully performed a second operation on a 10-week-old baby to correct birth deformities attributed to the tranquilizer thalidomide.

The three-hour operation was performed at Harbor General Hospital, Thursday.

Surgeons said they freed one end of the fibula, a leg bone, to prepare it for grafting to the right forearm of William Joseph Webb, Jr. A further operation, probably next Thursday, will transfer the bone they added.

The child was born with a radius bone missing in its right

158 YEARS OLD, SAYS WITNESS

CALCUTTA (AP)—A witness in a magistrate's court at Howrah, near here, claimed his age to be 158. The man, who was helped into the courtroom by an attendant, testified in a case between two of his relatives, one of whom had charged the other with trespassing.

5 Die In Alaska Air Crash

SELDovia, Alaska (AP)—Five men were killed and four injured critically in the crash of a twin-engine amphibian Thursday near this Kenai Peninsula town.

The dead were among eight cannery workers being flown to Homer for connecting flights to Seattle.

The pilot was identified as William C. Decraft of Homer. He survived the crash along with Tore Hoven, 18; Bob Olson, 18; and Florentine Lamuge, about 48, of Hawaii.

FIRST TO THE STORES, THEN BACK TO THE BOOKS

Biggest merchandising boost this side of Christmas is scramble to get ready and set to go back to school. With 24,300 pupils in Greater Victoria area spending summer earnings and a good chunk of mother's budget, stores were humping today with serious visaged young shoppers spending pennies on erasers and dollars on clothes, most of them aided and abetted by judicious advice from mother. Candid camera shows gravity of choosing tools to finish the job which resumes Tuesday morning; there'll be another rush to book stores and stationery departments when texts are assigned.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, AUG. 31, 1962—PAGE 15

MONTE ROBERTS

Cadborosaurus, Victoria's resident sea serpent, called me to an emergency rendezvous late yesterday afternoon, and when Big Caddy calls, I answer.

I hastened to the secret cover where our meetings are carried out in privacy, and had barely pursed my lips to whistle our signal code when Caddy's long muzzle, with its flaring nostrils, was followed by his sealed-beam eyes out of the water.

"Hello, Caddy, how are you?" I called out, cordially. "Never mind the small talk," said Caddy, in a manner contrary to his usual genial personality. "You have work to do—right away, if not sooner."

"What brought this on?" I asked. "It was in the paper this afternoon," said Caddy. (He gets the submarine edition. You might call him a subscriber.)

"What was in the paper this afternoon?" I asked, patiently.

"This piece about the octopus hunt," said Caddy. "A bunch of people are going to plunge into the waters off Saxe Point Sunday and chase poor, unoffending octopussess from pillar to post."

"Octopi," I corrected him, "and there are no pillars or posts off Saxe Point."

"Don't interrupt," said Caddy. "This is urgent. Do you realize some of these poor octopussess might get killed down dead by these people plunging into the water armed with all sorts of lethal instruments?"

"Dear me," I said.

"What right have people to come plunging into my ocean and hunting and capturing and killing and otherwise harassing inoffensive creatures?" Caddy demanded.

"All right, all right," I said. "Tell you what we'll do. We'll form a new association to vote no."

"What'll we call it?" asked Caddy.

"The Society for the Prevention of Catching Octopi," I said.

"Octopussessess," Caddy corrected me. "And I'll go along with the SPCO as long as there is a proviso."

"What proviso?"

"That the aim of the society be the prevention of octo-

etc. being caught by anyone but Caddy," he said.

"Why, Cadborosaurus, you should be ashamed of yourself," I said. "And anyway, I always thought you were a vegetarian."

"Not me," said Caddy, as his tail flipped a flagon of sea water in my lap and he submerged beneath the surface. "As far as I'm concerned, it's no kelp wanted."

City Station To Televis North Island

Plans for Victoria's CHEK-TV to establish rebroadcasting stations in the northern area of Vancouver Island today were recommended for approval by the Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa.

At the same time the board recommended for denial two applications for establishment of radio stations in Duncan.

A private group, Alert Bay Television Society, will invest about $50,000 in establishment of stations at Newcastle Ridge, near Kelsey Bay; Port Hardy, Kokish and Sointula. The system will "off-the-air" pickups of CHEK programs for rebroadcast.

CHEK manager Dave Armstrong said today the move will provide 10,000 additional viewers who now have no television.

"Work will start immediately under our engineering and management," he said. "We hope to have the system operating in time for baseball's World Series programs in October."

Duncan radio applications which were rejected were those of Roy V. Parrett, formerly of CFAX here in Victoria, and William Robert Jeffcott, Duncan construction company president.

The competing bids were rejected on the ground that the area's existing economic conditions and market area do not justify a local station.

Harry Parker will talk on begonias and fuchsias at a meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society, in City Hall, Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

HUNTERS URGED TO CHECK ACCESS

Hunters who were planning to step out for the opening of the bird-season Saturday were advised today to check into access privileges at areas they plan to hunt before travelling there.

Two logging firms suspended some access privileges because of a sudden increase in fire hazard conditions. There was a possibility other areas also may be closed by the weekend.

Saturday marks the opening of the season for blue and willow grouse and band-tailed pigeons. Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association said that the Muir Creek and Elder timber holdings of B.C. Forest Products are not open to hunters this weekend. Members assigned to man gates, therefore need not report.

At the same time, the Macmillan, Bloedel and Powell River company said their Copper Canyon, Northwest Bay and Menzies Bay lands are closed for the weekend. It is also possible, the MBP spokesman said, that the Alberni areas may also be closed.

FAIR MAIN EVENT

Festive Program Set for Holiday

The weather forecast is good for a rousing Labor Day weekend that will include the popular Saanichton Fair, Highland dancing, a display of Indian arts and crafts, a cage bird show—and an octopus hunting expedition.

The weatherman sees mostly sunny skies Saturday and Sunday with possibly some cloud Monday.

This weekend will see the wind-up of the yachting season with the Maple Bay Regatta—biggest Vancouver Island yachting event of the season.

The Maurice Green Trophy race for "B" and "C" class yachts will be from Sidney Spit to Musgrave Rock, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The 94th annual Saanichton Fair—oldest exhibition in Western Canada—will be opened by Mayor R. B. Wilson, Saturday, at 1:30 p.m.

Except for a children's horse show, the fair will close down Sunday and re-open Monday, Labor Day.

TOWBOAT STRIKE THREATENED

Hopes Pinned On New Talks

Union Sets Sept. 10 As Deadline

Hopes for averting a province-wide towboat strike called for Sept. 10 were pinned today on meeting between operators and union representatives, expected to take place before the deadline.

Up to 250 towboatmen with homes in the Greater Victoria area would be affected by the strike, which was announced Friday following a vote by the Marine Engineers Union and the Seamen, Cooks and Deckhands Union.

The vote was taken on a conciliation board report recommending a 6 per cent increase over three years. The unions are asking a 10 per cent boost over a two-year contract, plus job security benefits.

Masters and mates operating in towboats negotiate their contracts separately and are not affected by the strike vote.

A union spokesman said 85 per cent of the membership of the engineers and the deckhands' unions voted to strike. "We are well aware of the seriousness of the situation," he said. "We are hopeful, that a settlement will be reached."

Both owners and union expect an early meeting between labor and representatives of the 28-company B.C. Towboat Owners Association.

The engineers' union has 300 members, nearly 50 of them employed by Island Tug & Barge Ltd.'s Victoria operation. The cook-deckhands' union has about 90 members here out of a total of 350 on the coast.

The strike might also cost work for masters and mates, who are members of the Merchant Service Guild, which signed a contract with the association earlier this summer. But, except for those employed in one or two-man tugs, they would be out of work if the deckhands strike.

Main Island ports affected by a strike would be Victoria, Nanaimo, Chemainus, and Port Alberni. The logging industry would be hampered if no logs could move by water, and part of the CPR's movement of box cars on and off the Island would be affected.

The CNR maintains its own car ferry service, using a car barge and the veteran ferry Canora.

Fund for Family 'Overwhelmed'

A collection for a Saanichton family whose home at 1590 West Burnside burned to the ground Saturday, has temporarily closed, overwhelmed with donations.

No further contributions for the Latty Fitzpatrick family will be solicited until the benefit dance at Strawberry Vale Community Hall at the end of September.

"We've collected $185 cash and considerable clothing and furniture," said Wes Goddard, president of the Colwood Trail Riders, who organized the collection.

UBC 'Rebel' Apologizes For Charges

Peter Baxter, Parksville university student who accused the University of British Columbia of deliberately failing him because he criticized "mumbo-jumbo" of graduation ceremonies, has apologized.

In letters to newspapers which reported his criticisms, Mr. Baxter writes:

"Your columns correctly quoted me as making the charge I was deliberately failed by UBC last session in order to keep me out of the graduation ceremonies. This was silly and unfounded and I would appreciate your publishing my retraction and sincere apologies to all concerned."

Mr. Baxter had previously stated he would refuse to kneel to accept his degree at graduation ceremonies; then, when he failed to pass, stated, "If I failed, then every other student who wrote the exams failed, too."

Duncan Area Home Burns, Family Safe

Clint Willson arose at 5:30 this morning, lit the stove in his farmhouse on Hillbank Road, six miles south of Duncan, and left for the barn to milk his cows.

Ten minutes later he turned around to see his home ablaze. Willson rushed to rouse his wife, Cathy, and together they rescued their sleeping children—Roy, six; Kelly, five; Dez, three, and Cindy, two, from the blaze.

Willson then fought through the flames to rescue their 10-year-old household pet, Rosie, a chihuahua. He spent 20 minutes breathing life into the small dog.

All the Willsons saved in the way of household possessions were some school clothes for Roy, who starts school for the first time next week.

The Willsons moved to the Duncan area 18 months ago from Merchoin.

Pizza Proves Pleasant, Macaroni Variety Found

By PENNY SAVER

"Why don't you and Mike come over tonight so I can try my pizza on you?" Linda dared me one day last week.

"Oh," I scoffed, "you mean you bought one of those mixes."

"No," replied she emphatically, "my pizza is handmade from a true Italian recipe, and most of the ingredients come from Italy."

No other details would she give me until I had eaten some of her pizza and admitted that it was delicious. Then I discovered that the recipe is one of three on a printed sheet, a complimentary gift to customers of a store which carries Italian food products.

Investigating the shop myself, I was treated to a taste of prosciutto (pronounced pro-shoo-toe, I think!) which is uncured ham, about six to seven months old. Tangy flavor is very different. According to shop's owner, many people top the meat with slices of cantaloupe for a summertime treat. Price is $1.60 a pound.

But what interested me most were the bins of macaroni. There are at least 45 different kinds—long, broad strips with fluted edges, skinny straw-sized whips of spaghetti, pieces shaped like sea shells, small pieces such as alphabet macaroni or ones with names like stivaletti, tubetti, lumachini—and many more.

Prices vary. Some are two pounds for 46 cents, others 28 cents or 30 cents a pound.

Even cooked like ordinary macaroni, any of these kinds will take an Italian flavor if topped by a tomato sauce that contains such things as parsley, olive oil, onions and celery. Sauce in 4½-ounce jar is 25 cents.

For authentic Italian dishes you can always whip up the other two recipes on the complimentary sheet: Spaghetti with meat sauce or baked noodles. Owner not only assured me they were Italian but said he took them from the first Italian cook book.

Enjoy your food the way the people of southern Europe do! Call Penny at 382-3131 for name of shop.

DEAR ABBY...

She Needs Understanding!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in our office who is about 35. I'll bet she's never had a date in her life. She tells us about these romances she has on her vacations, and she even shows us lovey-dovey cards signed "Louie" and "Paul" that she buys and sends to herself. She's not a bad-looking girl, but what an imagination! Should we take up a collection and send her to a psychiatrist?

OFFICE GANG: Collect a little compassion and fix her up with a date.

DEAR ABBY: I was married for ten years to a man who was a devil to live with. Thank heavens that is all behind me and I am married now to a kind and loving man who treats me just wonderful. My problem is that I am still wearing the rings from my first husband and they are painful to wear because of all the unhappy memories that went with them. I can't put them away and go without a wedding ring and my second husband never got around to buying me any. I guess he doesn't realize how important a wedding ring is to me. It doesn't have to be anything fancy like my first set. Any cheap set will do. How can I make him understand how I feel?

TODAY'S RECIPE

PICKLED CRABAPPLES

Three lbs. crabapples (about 45), 4½ cups sugar, 3 cups white vinegar, 1½ cups water, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 sticks cinnamon, 2 teaspoons whole allspice, 1 teaspoon whole cloves, (tie spices in cheesecloth bag).

Wash crabapples and remove blossom ends only, leaving stems on. Combine remaining ingredients and boil 10 to 15 minutes. Cool. Add crabapples and cook until just barely tender. Let crabapples stand in syrup overnight to absorb the juice, then lift them out carefully and pack into jars. Heat the syrup and pour over fruit. Seal at once. Makes four pints.

You see, they are very orthodox in their religion and I married a boy of a different faith. We have been married three years and they have made no effort to see us. I heard from an aunt that my father is very ill. I want to go to see him, but don't want the door slammed in my face. What should I do?

Raise Legs—Swing Them! That's How to Trim Fat

(The Question Box) Q. "I have been dieting but I do not seem to lose weight in my legs, especially the upper part of them. Due to this, my legs rub together when I walk and cause chafing. Could you recommend some exercises, and is there anything I can do which will stop the chafing while I lose weight?"

A. I judge that you are still overweight, so continue counting calories. The following is one of the best exercises for your problem. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor extending out from your shoulders, palms facing the floor. Raise your legs halfway up. Hold them at this angle while you swing them apart. Swing them together. Continue swinging the legs apart and together. Apply cold cream to the irritated areas. When this is not practical, apply powder.

Q. "Will you please explain to me why my bust is always sore?" It is even sore to touch.

A. This can be due to causes which are not serious, but any unusual condition should be checked by your physician without delay.

Q. "My problem is a little different. It seems that the left side of my lip is falling. It has become quite noticeable in the last year. You see I have had no back teeth (upper or lower) for several years, and have had to chew only on the right side. I am assuming that this is the reason for my trouble.

This problem is very serious to me. It has begun to get on my nerves because my lips were my best feature and now I feel that I am losing the most attractive part of my face. At the present, bridge work is out of the question since my dentist says that the work would be quite expensive. Please help me with exercises."

A. There is no doubt that loss of teeth can affect facial contour, or that the habit of chewing on one side only may be a factor in your trouble. However, I suggest a physical check-up, and ask your dentist if he will work out a budget payment plan with you. In the meantime, try these two exercises.

Place your fingertips on your chin. Hold your lower lip in place while you lift your upper lip. Relax and continue.

Look into a mirror. Lift the left corner of your mouth up toward your left ear, (as far as possible). Slowly return mouth to normal position. Continue. Do this exercise slowly.

If any of my readers would like to have my facial exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9, "Facial Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

This weekend Mrs. Edna McKay will come from Port Arthur, Ont., and Mrs. Vera Coulson from Summerside, P.E.I. to spend some time with Mrs. McKay's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brouse at their home on Gladia Avenue.

BE SMART—

Hit the high spots of chic by sparkling even when wearing wools. This is simple to do, since newest wools are threaded with the glamor of glitter. A two-piece beige, styled with easy, fluid lines, is quite gala with its gold patterning. A classically styled wool jersey is woven with silver glints for a marvelous all-occasion dress.

Novel 'Holiday' Brings Lasting Pleasure

By FAT DUFOUR

Mrs. J. R. Scaplen's prize possession is the "holiday" she had two years ago. She has only to look out of the living room window of her home on Harding Lane at Brentwood to savor it, time and time again.

She explains: "Two years ago I told my husband that instead of going away on holiday I would prefer to invest $100 in our front garden."

If you think this was a simple matter of buying a few shrubs and plants and rolling a lawn together it should be stressed that the Scaplen's 55-foot lot was then almost barren of soil and that it only yielded to the tenacious battling of a pick axe.

INGREDIENTS

The couple spent their "glad money" on soil, cement and rocks, and results have transformed the lot into a show place that attracts tourists and neighbors alike.

Landscaping began with a gracefully curved pool which Mr. Scaplen axed and hosed out, perfecting the shape after repeated checks from the living room window.

Walks were laid by both Flo and Jim Scaplen, and later edged with fragrant beds of thyme.

In the trend of Japanese landscaping, Mr. Scaplen used a pine tree to highlight a "mountain" and created two smaller pools that lead from the original one.

GREAT VARIETY

With the aid of such generous neighbors as Mrs. Norman Broadhurst, the enthusiasts have stocked their garden with a variety of shrubs and flowers. In the large pool that's centred with a Japanese maple, there are huge water lilies in pink and yellow and a miniature yellow lily that's a rarity here. Water iris, tigridias, a palm-like dracina and a weeping rose add color and interest.

The Scaplen's even have eight fat bullfrogs which they brought from a water garden on Lulu Island, to add a nightly chorus.

Says Flo Scaplen, "It's a lot of fun to see them squatting on the lily pads, giving deep croaks or feasting on worms that my husband has dug for them."

BEGAN EARLY

Both the Scaplen's were brought up in Victoria. Mrs. Scaplen's love of gardening began when, as a toddler, she helped her mother, Mrs. Every Clayton, pull weeds.

Her husband used to camp on the ground that is now their "holiday" garden as a five-year-old boy. When they bought the property, nine years ago, the old house was still standing.

The couple gradually built a new home around it. When time came to put in a basement, they jacked the old home up on stilts until the project was completed.

Even during the years of home building, at the first sign of sun the Scaplen's would "down tools" and head for the garden.

Consistently, from 1956 up to and including this year, they were awarded "best all-round garden" or "best shrubs and flowers" in the annual Brentwood garden competition. Only exception was in 1961 when they didn't compete.

TO HELP OTHERS

Flo Scaplen insists that this is their last year of competition. "We feel that it's time that someone else had a chance and would like to offer a cup for another category. Still, we bless those prizes for they were a great source of encouragement. We didn't know until we began winning, how much potential we had."

Mr. Scaplen's skill in gardening is acquired by instinct rather than training, says his admiring wife. His working hours—official ones, that is—are spent as a machinist at Victoria Machinery Depot.

Have they any pointers for you can grow a profusion of flowers in the smallest of lots?

"Never buy a plant or shrub until you've picked the exact place to plant it. This way, that!

At the beginning of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Scaplen's nine-year project, their front garden was nothing but hard, barren ground. Seen in the background is the old summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Scaplen, with the foundations of the present house surrounding it.

Nine years later, lush foliage and well-stocked pools transform the once-bare ground into a place of beauty.

Husband's Career Vs. Degree

TORONTO (CP)—Financier Wallace McCutcheon's appointment to the Senate may have thwarted his wife in her ambition to return to the University of Toronto this year for a nursing degree.

Mrs. McCutcheon, handsome woman with rolled blonde hair, a mother of five, said in an interview:

"When I graduated from the university I only got a diploma in nursing. I'd like to go back and get that degree."

"I've been accepted by the university but really I haven't any idea whether I'll be able to go back this year or not."

Mrs. McCutcheon learned of her husband's appointment to the cabinet as minister without portfolio like everyone else. She saw the newspaper headlines while shopping downtown.

Canadian Designers Present Mannish to Romantic Styles

MONTREAL (CP) — The "spare look," draped in cloaks, tunics, and full coats—many in all-Canadian fabrics—highlighted the fall-winter collection of the Association of Canadian Couturiers at a press showing Thursday.

The association's 17th combined collection, featuring creations by 12 Canadian designers, ran from the slim, mannish look to the very feminine romantic, with a touch of the renaissance.

The influence of the Far East continued its popularity with the frequent use of rich, gold paisley patterns in East Indian silks, and slim gowns draped with tunics or stoles.

Costumes were particularly popular with Raoul Jean Fournier introducing the L line into a series of elegant tunicsuits, from daytime to evening wear. The L was marked by a cutout, cutaway treatment from neckline to hipline.

Mario Dinardo of Montreal introduced the pant-skirt, a slim variation of the culotte. Using combinations of black and brown and grey and brown, he showed tunic-coats and cloaks fastened at the top and back.

Montreal's Danjou, specializing in the convertible costume, showed more dressy creations with big backed coats and cloaks over matching gowns. A bridal gown with Renaissance neckline in white and pale blue had a detachable overskirt and train-panel.

The theme "East meets West" was in the creations of Eve Lyn of Montreal—a green suit in Canadian orlon-and-wool tweed, combined with an Indian cashmere shawl and dinner dress in one piece.

Olivia of Hamilton, Ont., brought romantic femininity into the show with a bridal collection in the Jane Eyre tradition, of champagne satin, lace ruffles in the sleeves, and a tight lace cap.

while her mother, Mrs. C. R. Underwood, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. Smith, received corsages of coral gladioli and chrysanthemums. Games were played and refreshments, including a decorated cake, were served. Other guests were Mrs. V. R. Sage, Mrs. R. B. Low, Mrs. D. M. McTavish, Mrs. Ray Rogers, Mrs. T. R. Eardley, Mrs. Ted Todd, Mrs. R. Webster, Mrs. W. G. Woolford, Misses Peg Longbottom, Sally Ebbs-Canavan, Kistie Hicks and Joan Low.

Summer Polio Peak Passed; One Patient

Deputy Health Minister Dr. J. A. Taylor said Thursday there has been only one case of paralytic polio in B.C. as the mid-point of the yearly peak polio season passed.

August and September are considered the peak polio months.

Dr. Taylor reported that about one-half of the province had been offered the double protection of Salk and Sabin vaccines. Vancouver Island will be offered free Sabin doses in October.

He said provincial health units and schools will provide the clinics for public immunization.

He added that the protection of the oral Sabin vaccine is more lasting and he urged everybody—including those who have received Salk immunization—to get the protection of Sabin vaccine.

B.C. Forest Fire Bill at Low Level

British Columbia chief forester, F. S. McKinnon is today looking forward with qualified optimism to fire season writieth which will give the province its lowest woods protection bill in five years.

"From 1938 until this year, Mr. McKinnon told the Times Thursday, "we had some really bad seasons. A year ago at this time, we were spending about $100,000 a day of the taxpayers' money. At the last report, only 25 fires were burning in all B.C., the worst a 12-acre blaze across at Kyuquot which is being fought by 30 logging company men."

Only $277,700

Reason for smoke-free skies and a firefighting bill which stands at a puny $277,700 to date against the whopping $2,591,000 tallied by August's end last year, is the moist weather that cramped many a vacation.

A contributing cause has been effective use of the modern foresters' tools, among them water bombers which quench or retard outbreaks in difficult country, and employment of helicopters for tasks that range from setting a smokechaser team down behind the ridges to supplying fire-watchers who man isolated look-outs.

Real Workhorse

"But the tough Beaver with its good freight capacity is still our workhorse," said the chief forester — "Finn" MacKinnon to the service which he entered as a college boy on a summer job in 1925—"and we still need the poor old footslogger to go in and put them out."

Grey but still slender, Mr. McKinnon has done plenty of footslogging. As chief forester since 1959, he directs the activities of 1,800 year-round Forest Service workers, a number which expands to 2,800 during the fire danger months. From lengthy experience with the ups and downs of B.C.'s forest industries, he isn't unduly alarmed over a current

Life In 1860's Described To Rotary Club

The Victoria Rotary Club heard a historian Thursday give a portrayal of life in the year 1862.

Dr. Douglas Leechman gave his views on "The Rest of the World in 1862," excluding developments in Victoria during that year.

He said Alaska still belonged to Russia in 1862, Canadian confederation was still in the future and that the typewriter had not yet been invented.

Beards were being sported in England. An asylum for cats was opened in 1862 and an anti-vivisection society was formed.

Dr. Leechman also mentioned that his father had been born in 1862.

"Which accounts for my being here today," he said.

Ottawa Asks Plan to End Dogfish Pest

The federal government has offered to co-operate in any "practical" plan for dogfish eradication, according to a letter received today by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce from Fisheries Minister J. Angus MacLean.

Government help on the problem was sought in a resolution passed at the annual meeting last April of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island. The resolution said dogfish were a "serious menace" to the salmon fishery.

Mr. MacLean pointed out that the federal government had spent $480,000 in a five-year period on control measures such as subsidized dogfish meal and oil production and chartering of boats for direct killing.

NO EFFECT

"Unfortunately, none of these approaches has affected the growing dogfish population," he said.

Mr. MacLean said, however, that he was prepared to seek parliamentary support for a new practical approach to the problem.

Such an approach would require the co-operation and financial support of organizations directly involved including commercial and sport fishermen and the fish processing companies.

FIRST TO THE STORES, THEN BACK TO THE BOOKS

Biggest merchandising boost this side of Christmas is scramble to get ready and set to go back to school. With 24,300 pupils in Greater Victoria area spending summer earnings and a good chunk of mother's budget, stores were humping today with serious visaged young shoppers spending pennies on erasers and dollars on clothes, most of them aided and abetted by judicious advice from mother. Candid camera shows gravity of choosing tools to finish the job which resumes Tuesday morning; there'll be another rush to book stores and stationery departments when texts are assigned.

MONTE ROBERTS

Cadborosaurus, Victoria's resident sea serpent, called me to an emergency rendezvous late yesterday afternoon, and when Big Caddy calls, I answer.

I hastened to the secret cover where our meetings are carried out in privacy, and had barely pursed my lips to whistle our signal code when Caddy's long muzzle, with its flaring nostrils, was followed by his sealed-beam eyes out of the water.

"Hello, Caddy, how are you?" I called out, cordially. "Never mind the small talk," said Caddy, in a manner contrary to his usual genial personality. "You have work to do—right away, if not sooner."

"What brought this on?" I asked. "It was in the paper this afternoon," said Caddy. (He gets the submarine edition. You might call him a sub-scriber.)

"What was in the paper this afternoon?" I asked, patiently.

"This piece about the octopus hunt," said Caddy. "A bunch of people are going to plunge into the waters off Saxe Point Sunday and chase poor, unoffending octopussesses from pillar to post."

"Octopi," I corrected him, "and there are no pillars or posts off Saxe Point."

"Don't interrupt," said Caddy. "This is urgent. Do you realize some of these poor octopussesses might get killed down dead by these people plunging into the water armed with all sorts of lethal instruments?"

"Dear me," I said. "What right have people to come plunging into my ocean and hunting and capturing and killing and otherwise harassing inoffensive creatures?" Caddy demanded.

"All right, all right," I said. "Tell you what we'll do. We'll form a new association to vote no."

"What'll we call it?" asked Caddy.

"The Society for the Prevention of Catching Octopi," I said.

"Octopussesses," Caddy corrected me. "And I'll go along with the SPCO as long as there is a proviso."

"What proviso?"

"That the aim of the society be the prevention of octopussesses being caught by anyone but Caddy," he said.

"Why, Cadborosaurus, you should be ashamed of yourself," I said. "And anyway, I always thought you were a vegetarian."

"Not me," said Caddy, as his tail flipped a flagon of sea water in my lap and he submerged beneath the surface. "As far as I'm concerned, it's no kelp wanted."

City Station To Televis North Island

Plans for Victoria's CHEK-TV to establish rebroadcasting stations in the northern area of Vancouver Island today were recommended for approval by the Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa.

At the same time the board recommended for denial two applications for establishment of radio stations in Duncan.

A private group, Alert Bay Television Society, will invest about $50,000 in establishment of stations at Newcastle Ridge, near Kelsey Bay; Port Hardy, Kokish and Sointula. The system will "off-the-air" pickups of CHEK programs for rebroadcast.

CHEK manager Dave Armstrong said today the move will provide 10,000 additional viewers who now have no television.

"Work will start immediately under our engineering and management," he said. "We hope to have the system operating in time for baseball's World Series programs in October."

Duncan radio applications which were rejected were those of Roy V. Parrett, formerly of CFAX here in Victoria, and William Robert Jeffcott, Duncan construction company president.

The competing bids were rejected on the ground that the area's existing economic conditions and market area do not justify a local station.

Horticulturist Speaks

Harry Parker will talk on begonias and fuchsias at a meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society, in City Hall, Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

HUNTERS URGED TO CHECK ACCESS

Hunters who were planning to step out for the opening of the bird season Saturday were advised today to check into access privileges at areas they plan to hunt before travelling there.

Two logging firms suspended some access privileges because of a sudden increase in fire hazard conditions. There was a possibility other areas also may be closed by the weekend.

Saturday marks the opening of the season for blue and willow grouse and band-tailed pigeons.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association said that the Muir Creek and Elder timber holdings of B.C. Forest Products are not open to hunters this weekend. Members assigned to man gates, therefore need not report.

At the same time, the Macmillan, Bloedel and Powell River company said their Copper Canyon, Northwest Bay and Menzies Bay lands are closed for the weekend. It is also possible, the MBP spokesman said, that the Alberni areas may also be closed.

FAIR MAIN EVENT

Festive Program Set for Holiday

The weather forecast is good for a rousing Labor Day weekend that will include the popular Saanichton Fair, Highland dancing, a display of Indian arts and crafts, a cage bird show—and an octopus hunting expedition.

The weatherman sees mostly sunny skies Saturday and Sunday with possibly some cloud Monday.

This weekend will see the wind-up of the yachting season with the Maple Bay Regatta—biggest Vancouver Island yachting event of the season.

The Maurice Green Trophy race for "B" and "C" class yachts will be from Sidney Spit to Musgrave Rock, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday.

OLDEST IN WEST The 4th annual Saanichton Fair—oldest exhibition in Western Canada—will be opened by Mayor R. B. Wilson, Saturday, at 1:30 p.m.

Except for a children's horse show, the fair will close down Sunday and re-open Monday, Labor Day.

"We expect a record number of exhibits," said Albert Doney, president, "and we hope the attendance will also hit a record."

More than $10,000 has been spent in replacing the electrical system in some of the fair buildings and on renovating exhibition sheds.

On Saturday more than 150 young people will compete for honors in a series of 4-H Club competitions, including judging cattle, goats and rabbits and public demonstration of agricultural work.

There will be octopus hunting Sunday at Saxe Point Park, Esquimalt, organized by the Bohemian Skin Diving Club. Competitions will be in two sections, with fishing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

At the Saanichton Fair there will be Highland dancing events starting Monday at 11 a.m., and a horse show featuring western events Saturday and English events Monday.

The horticultural exhibits in the agricultural hall will feature a large display of fresh fruits and vegetables, home cooking, home arts and flowers.

INDIAN DISPLAY Indian arts and crafts will be displayed by bands of the Saanich Peninsula. In charge of the Indian display are Rev. P. Hanley, Chief Edwin Underwood, Chief Don Williams, Chief Sandy Jones, and Chief Henry Smith.

The cage bird show will be staged by Vancouver Island Budgerigar Society.

Dairy cattle will hold the spotlight Monday when some of the finest cattle on Vancouver Island will be judged.

This is the last holiday weekend of the summer and police chiefs everywhere are appealing to motorists, pedestrians, boaters and swimmers to exercise caution.

TOWBOAT STRIKE THREATENED

Hopes Pinned On New Talks

Union Sets Sept. 10 As Deadline

Hopes for averting a province-wide towboat strike called for Sept. 10 were pinned today on meeting between operators and union representatives, expected to take place before the deadline.

Up to 250 towboatmen with homes in the Greater Victoria area would be affected by the strike, which was announced Friday following a vote by the Marine Engineers' Union and the Seamen, Cooks and Deckhands Union.

The vote was taken on a conciliation board report recommending a 6 per cent increase over three years. The unions are asking a 10 per cent boost over a two-year contract, plus job security benefits.

SEPARATELY Masters and mates operating in towboats negotiate their contracts separately and are not affected by the strike vote.

A union spokesman said 85 per cent of the membership of the engineers and the deckhand's unions voted to strike. "We are well aware of the seriousness of the situation," he said. "We are hopeful that a settlement will be reached."

EARLY MEETING Both owners and union expect an early meeting between labor and representatives of the 28-company B.C. Towboat Owners Association.

The engineers' union has 300 members, nearly 50 of them employed by Island Tug & Barge Ltd.'s Victoria operation. The cook-deckhand's union has about 90 members here out of a total of 350 on the coast.

The strike might also cost work for masters and mates, who are members of the Merchant Service Guild, which signed a contract with the association earlier this summer. But, except for those employed in one or two-man tugs, they would be out of work if the deckhands strike.

HURT LOGGING Main Island ports affected by a strike would be Victoria, Nanaimo, Chemainus, and Port Alberni. The logging industry would be hampered if no logs could move by water, and part of the CPR's movement of box cars on and off the Island would be affected.

The CNR maintains its own car ferry service, using a car barge and the veteran ferry Canova.

Fund for Family 'Overwhelmed' A collection for a Saanich family whose home at 1590 West Burnside burned to the ground Saturday, has temporarily closed, overwhelmed with donations.

No further contributions for the Larry Fitzpatrick family will be solicited until the benefit dance at Strawberry Vale Community Hall at the end of September.

"We've collected $185 cash and considerable clothing and furniture," said Wes Goddard, president of the Colwood Trail Riders, who organized the collection.

PETER BAXTER ... quoted correctly

UBC 'Rebel' Apologizes For Charges

Peter Baxter, Parksville university student who accused the University of British Columbia of deliberately failing him because he criticized "numbo-jumbo" of graduation ceremonies, has apologized.

In letters to newspapers which reported his criticisms, Mr. Baxter writes:

"Your columns correctly quoted me as making the charge I was deliberately failed by UBC last session in order to keep me out of the graduating ceremonies. This was silly and unfounded and I would appreciate your publishing my retraction and sincere apologies to all concerned."

Mr. Baxter had previously stated he would refuse to kneel, to accept his degree at graduation ceremonies; then, when he failed to pass, stated "If I failed, then every other student who wrote the exams failed, too."

Duncan Area Home Burns, Family Safe

Clint Willson arose at 5:30 this morning, lit the stove in his farmhouse on Hillbank Road, six miles south of Duncan, and left for the barn to milk his cows.

Ten minutes later he turned around to see his home ablaze. Willson rushed to rouse his wife, Cathy, and together they rescued their sleeping children—Roy, six; Kelly, five; Dez, three; and Cindy, two, from the blaze.

Willson then fought through the flames to rescue their 10-year-old household pet, Rosie, a chihuahua. He spent 20 minutes breathing life into the small dog.

All the Willsons saved in the way of household possessions were some school clothes for Roy, who starts school for the first time next week.

The Willsons moved to the Duncan area 18 months ago from Meachasin.

First meeting of the 1962-63 season of Gordon Head Garden Club will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the community hall, Tyndall Ave.

Donald Alexander, 7915 East Saanich Road, pleaded guilty to a similar charge of obtaining $88.

Restitution was ordered.

Blasting without a permit brought a $20 fine to John Popadynic, 2638 Deville, in Saanich police court Thursday.

He had pleaded guilty to the charge.

"A" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday, at 1:30 p.m., at the Monterey parking lot, for a field trip to John Dean Park, Mount Newton.

Dennis Balllargeon, HMCS Antigonish, was fined a total of $165 on four charges when he appeared in city police court Thursday.

He pleaded guilty to taking an auto without the owner's consent, careless driving, having no driver's licence, and no insurance.

He was fined $75, $40, $25, and $25 respectively.

He had pleaded guilty to assault causing bodily harm to Mrs. Georgina Poole, 235 Wilson, his next-door neighbor for over two years.

Fun in the Sun all summer paid off for these youngsters, graduates of a seven-week swimming program in the pool at the Burnside Garden Village housing development. All these youngsters, seen with lifeguard-instructor Sue Morgan, 19, are now ready for advanced instruction. Left to

Gun Fight Waged In Toronto Holdup

TORONTO (UPI)—Two bandits traded about 15 shots with company executives today in a running gun-battle following a $14,905 payroll robbery.

No one was injured in the two-minute exchange, but at least six bullets fired by the two Varamae Construction Company officials were believed to have hit the gunmen's fleeing car.

Police fanned out across the north end of the city searching for a bullet-riddled 1961 black or dark blue Chevrolet.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate anti-trust subcommittee recommended today that four big U.S. steel companies and one of their top executives be cited for contempt of Congress.

Deportation Upheld By Court

LONDON (AP)—The Court of Appeal today upheld a government order for deportation of Dr. Robert Soblen to the United States and the convicted Soviet spy's lawyers dropped their plans to carry the fight on to the House of Lords.

Soblen faces life imprisonment in the U.S. Solomon Kauffman of Soblen's legal team said that, instead of appealing to the Lords, Soblen will make a plea to Home Secretary Brooke, who issued the deportation order Aug. 2.

At the conclusion of today's judgment, F. Elwyn Jones, another of Soblen's lawyers, told the Court of Appeal:

"I am authorized by the attorney-general, Sir John Hobson, to say that, before the deportation is put into effect, an opportunity will be given to Dr. Soblen to make representations to the home secretary in regard to this matter."

The House of Lords is Britain's highest tribunal, a last resort.

The Court of Appeal refused to free Soblen and dismissed his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

The ruling is the fourth adverse decision Soblen has met in British courts.

TWO WOMEN STRANGLED TO DEATH

Capital Murder Charge Laid

EDMONTON (CP)—A charge of capital murder was laid today against Earl Lehr, 29, following the strangulation of his wife and mother Thursday night at a small home on Edmonton's northeastern outskirts.

Killed were Mrs. Delores Lehr, 26, and Mrs. Dion Lehr, 55, of Ponoka. Police charged Lehr shortly after they arrested him at Edmonton's Royal Alexandra Hospital.

He was to appear in court today.

Police did not suggest a motive for the slayings. They did not release many details.

Lehr, an electrician who returned Thursday from McMurray in northeastern Alberta, was arrested after his brother-in-law reported he spoke to the man on the street when he noticed Lehr was carrying one of his four children in his arms.

Police said the two men went to hospital, police were called and the Lehr home was searched. The bodies were found inside the small frame dwelling.

BODIES REMOVED

The slayings apparently occurred about 9:15 p.m. in the home in a sparsely-housed section of the city. The bodies were removed during the night and taken to hospital for autopsies.

Neighbors said the family had been living in the home about two months.

The dwelling, reached only by streets made muddy by recent rains, is surrounded on three sides by broad fields. A crude child's swing hung from a tree in front of the house.

Police Chief M. F. E. Anthony said a woman had called earlier in the day, concerned about a person she believed might be mentally ill.

"The police were not invited out," he said. "In fact, they were asked to stay away."

Chief Anthony said the call was handled by a police-woman who is a registered nurse and trained in psychiatry.

He said the woman was advised that provisions of the Mental Diseases Act prevented police from arresting a person suspected of being mentally ill and dangerous unless a member of the family swore an information alleging mental illness before a magistrate.

The woman did not want police to come and said she would discuss the matter with her mother-in-law.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY TRIUMPH

Car Cavalcade Completes Atlantic-to-Pacific Trek

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Canadian history was made today when a cavalcade of 14 cream-colored cars rolled down to the water's edge and dipped their front wheels in the Pacific Ocean.

The wheel-dipping ceremony, held at the Dallas Road ramp of the James Bay Anglers' Association, marked completion of a 5,000-mile motorcade across Canada from St. John's, Newfoundland. There on Aug. 1, the 14 cars dipped their rear wheels in the Atlantic Ocean at the start of their 30-day journey across prairie, forest and mountain to Mile Zero on the Dallas waterfront.

DREAMED-OF DAY

"This is a day of which our forefathers could only dream," said Premier Bennett from the steps of the Legislative Buildings, where he greeted 30 men and six women passengers on completion of "an historic journey."

"You have been ambassadors of goodwill all across Canada," he declared.

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi added his congratulations at the wheel-dipping ceremony, and commended the Canadian Automobile Association on its organization of a "cross-country classic."

Five Canadian manufacturers provided 14 new cars for the journey—12 for each province of Canada, one for the federal government and one for newspapermen.

The provincial cars carried their crests and an illuminated sign announcing official opening of the Trans-Canada Highway next Monday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

"The journey proved that it is now possible for motorists to drive over passable roads all the way from St. John's to Victoria," said Jack Chestnutt of Vancouver, who drove the British Columbia car.

Mr. Chestnutt, who is director of roads services for the B.C. Automobile Association, drove with Ron Gadsby of the B.C. recreation and conservation department.

"It was a wonderful experience," said Mr. Gadsby.

POLICE ESCORT

Led by an escort of city police, and RCMP, the cavalcade reached the Empress Hotel Thursday night. This morning it called at the City Hall to pick up Mayor R. B. Wilson and other civic officials; drove to the flag-draped Legislative Buildings; on to Mile Zero and then to the wheel-dipping ceremony on the Dallas Road.

The cars swept through city streets and were greeted with sporadic cheering from men, women and children on Douglas near the Mile Zero sign.

Afterwards the travellers were hosted at a B.C. government luncheon in the Empress Hotel, at which Attorney-General Robert Bonner took the chair and Highways Minister Gagliardi gave an address of welcome.

A special guest at the luncheon was Mr. Gadsby.

VMD Awarded Big Contract

Victoria Machinery Depot has won a $4,000,000 contract to build a luxury cruise liner for a United States firm operating in the Alaska trade.

The winning bid was entered against competition from both United States and Canadian yards.

Contract is with Alaska Cruise Lines Ltd. of Seattle and Vancouver. Work will start early in January when the two new B.C. Toll Authority ferries now building at the Ogden Point VMD yards are off the ways.

Work on the contract has been going on for several months, and the successful bid by VMD was announced in Vancouver today by Charles B. West, president of Alaska Cruise.

A VMD spokesman said today the new ship will provide work for a force of between 200 and 300 men for 18 months, and comes at an ideal time to take up the slack after completion of the ferries.

At present specifications for the cruise ship are still in the drawing board stage. Basic requirements call for luxury accommodation for 238 passengers in a hull 295 feet long with a beam of 60 feet.

Mr. West, in announcing the award, said the vessel will be delivered in time for the 1964 tourist season. The ship will be operated from a base in Vancouver, sailing the scenic inland waterway route to Skagway.

HAIR-TRIGGER MOVE

Charter Pilot Saved 7 Lives

By ARTHUR MAYSE

Department of transport inspectors today are probing circumstances of a spectacular boat-seaplane collision off Campbell River mouth Thursday night which sent a father of four to hospital and but for a bush pilot's hair-trigger reactions, might have claimed seven lives.

In Campbell River Hospital with leg and facial injuries is George Woodworth, 59-year-old maintenance man for B.C. Hydro at Hart Dam, who with his three young sons was catapulted from the family fishing boat when pontoons of a seaplane, a single-engine Cessna 172, piloted by John McNeill of Island Air Lines, smashed into the after section of the 17-foot plywood and fibreglass craft.

Unharmful, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragner of Seattle, passengers in the single-engine bush-plane, are proceeding with a British Columbia vacation devoted to color photography and trout fishing. Their only fear is that some of Mr. Ragner's color photos may have been ruined by a dunking that would have ended in a drowning save for their charter pilot's cool and speedy rescue work.

'Wonderful,' Passenger Claims

"That man was wonderful!" Mrs. Ragner told the Times by long-distance telephone from Forbidden Plateau Lodge, northwest of Courtenay, this morning. "If it weren't for him, I'm certain we wouldn't be enjoying our holiday in your wonderful country today."

"We'd been trout-fishing and picture-taking at Long Lake near Smith's Inlet, and took off at 7 o'clock. It's an hour's flight, so we must have come in for a landing at Campbell River about 8.

The seaplane's landing lights were on as we slanted down. I'm sure of that; in fact, I noticed later that they remained on even with the plane under water.

"I didn't see the boat at all," the wife of the Seattle television color engineer continued. "I just felt the plane lift a little, then there was this terrible impact and we seemed to plunge forward. Next thing I knew, I was trying to lift my head out of water that had almost filled the cabin."

Unfastened Seat Belt In-Time

"I'd never have made it, but Mr. McNeill unfastened my seat belt—I was beside him in the other front seat—and got me out of there. My husband managed to climb out of the rear of the plane as it settled."

"Except for a couple of minor bruises, we weren't hurt. We'd had a marvelous day with lots of trout, and our only worry is about our pictures."

Mr. Woodworth told the Times his side of the bizarre crackup minutes after he emerged from surgery with 21 stitches in his left leg, and

LONDON (AP)—The founder of the Society for the Protection of Uter Femininity reports membership is growing.

"We started up a month ago," said portrait painter Sara Leighton, 26, "and we are receiving wide support throughout the country."

Membership is limited to women. Miss Leighton gave no figures on total membership.

The society wants women to give up the vote and stop trying to compete with men in business.

"A woman should stay in the home," said Miss Leighton. "My ex-husband agrees with me."

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Mrs. J. C. Dobine flunked her driver's licence test Thursday.

When she started to pull away from the curb in the examining area her car lurched across the sidewalk, ran over a no-parking sign and crashed into a guard rail.

WASHINGTON—The labor department's new robot press agent appears to have turned rogue, touching off a telephone snarl that is threatening to create havoc.

Children have found they can call the special telephone number used by the labor department to give recorded news announcements and talk to each other over a busy signal, officials said Thursday.

The flood of calls has tied up the answering service and labor officials said employees are complaining of dialing an abnormally high amount of wrong numbers since the robot was set up.

trolling motor clamped beside it on the transom, when...

"That plane just appeared out of nowhere," said Mr. Woodward on the portable phone a nurse fetched to his bedside in the hospital overlooking the fishing grounds.

"The time was about 8:30—getting dusky, but lots of boats were out. What happened, the plane must have come gliding in below the mountain horizon. All I knew was, my little boy hollered 'Daddy!... Daddy!'" and I looked up from the stern seat and there it was, almost on top of us.

REVVED MOTOR

"I don't think the pilot saw us. I revved up the motor, hoping to get clear or at least spare my boys, then the pontoons caught us."

Mr. Woodward insists the seaplane was in the air when the collision occurred.

"I estimate the floats were three feet off the water when I saw them," he said. "I went down so deep I thought I'd never feel my way up. I didn't feel a thing. The only thought in my head was, 'Where are the boys?'"

"My oldest acted like a real man. He had grabbed little David—his full name is David Lloyd George—and was taking care of him. Douglas did fine too. I'm real proud of them."

"Lifejackets? You bet! The boys never get in the boat without them. Sure, they squawk sometimes, but my wife and I insist on them wearing lifejackets, and last night, they certainly paid off."

IN USUAL AREA

Mr. Woodward, questioned, didn't think the plane was lighted, but said it was in the usual aircraft landing area.

"I couldn't state the exact time," he said, "but it was full dark when they were loading me into the ambulance."

Fishing craft swarmed to pluck the accident victims from the water.

"We were picked up by a couple from the 'Southern States,'" Mr. Woodward said.

The Soviet Union has rejected all Western proposals for on-site inspection as attempts to set up spy networks on Soviet soil.

The Western powers insist that on-site inspection of underground tests is necessary to prevent cheating.

Godber stressed that the two Western powers "have come a long way to meet the Soviet demands. We believe we are entitled to a response."

"They didn't leave their names, but those were fine people. They took the boys home to my wife and our daughter Linda, who's 10 and celebrating her birthday this week. I don't know or care about my boat, although a skindiver friend is going to try for my motor. Those are material things, and I'm just glad we're safe."

"I was a little shook up," 30-year-old bachelor bush pilot John McNeill said laconically from the line office at Campbell River. Actually, he landed 150 feet back. I never saw the boat till it was right in front of me. It was getting toward dusk, and hard to see anything toward the shoreline. Also, in that position, a plane's nose is high, making it hard to spot anything dead ahead on the water.

"I yelled 'Look out!' to my passengers, then hauled back on the column, trying to lift my ship over the boat so the prop wouldn't slice the people in it. I guess I succeeded."

"Next I knew, I was hanging upside-down by my belt. We were tipped, and the cabin was flooding. I freed myself, then loosed Mrs. Ragnar's seat belt and pulled her out. Mr. Ragnar made it without help."

The float plane, later towed in, Mr. McNeill describes as a "complete write-off."

... TEST BAN

British proposal for on-site inspections to guard against underground tests.

This condition assured Soviet rejection of the proposal. In proposing the moratorium, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, insisted there should be no provision for international inspection.

Godber told the meeting that all three nuclear powers should redouble their efforts for an agreement to end all or part of the nuclear tests because both sides have suggested the same deadline to suspend test explosions.

Godber appealed to Kuznetsov to accept the cutoff in one of the two treaties the Western side proposed and the Soviet Union rejected.

Method Found To Rid Body Of Strontium

MONTREAL (CP)—A Finnish scientist, Kai Setälä, reported discovery Thursday of a way to rid the body of strontium, one of the dangerous elements absorbed through radioactivity fallout.

The technique, developed experimentally on cats and mice, is to have the radioactive material secreted in saliva and sweat.

Dr. Setälä, professor of pathology at the University of Helsinki, reports it at the International Congress of Radiology, Strontium, occurring in both natural and man-made fallout, lodges in the bones.

Dr. Setälä said it is necessary to get strontium out of the body because it cannot be changed or rendered harmless within the body. The problem in this vital area of research had been to get the strontium out without killing the patient. If the kidneys were used to excrete the strontium, so much bone-building calcium would go out along with it that the patient would die within a few hours.

CAVALCADE

cheon was 76-year-old George F. Gordon of Edmonton, formerly of Victoria, who pioneered the Yellowhead trans-mountain crossing in a drive from Edmonton to Victoria in 1922.

Director of the motorcade from east to west was Courtney Chick, director of public relations for the C.A.A. in Ottawa.

"We have had the best weather since crossing the boundary into B.C.," he said. "It was warm in Saskatchewan, but somewhat cold and wet in Alberta. The skies seemed to clear just as we crossed the border."

Senior CAA representative on the journey was R. J. Hastings, immediate past-president of the CAA, and a vice-president of the American Automobile Association.

WARM WELCOMES

"We have sampled the wonderful variety of scenery Canada has to offer," he said, "and we were warmly welcomed to every city and province we visited. Of course, you can't expect black-top all the way. But I'd say the worst of it is passable."

The travellers were joined at the City Hall by Cmdr. J. M. Leeming, manager of the CAA's Victoria branch.

Said Premier Bennett: "We are all trying to build a greater Canada and this is a signal step along the way. Since we opened our section of the Rogers Pass, tens of thousands of Canadians have used it."

PIPER AT RAM

Piper Kenneth MacKenzie from Halifax, N.S., was official piper on the tour, wearing the tartan of his clan, and performed at Mile Zero and at the wheel-dipping ceremony.

Tonight the travellers are being hosted at a buffet supper given by the C.A.A. in the wardroom of HMCS Naden.

The motorcade will return to Rogers Pass Saturday for the official opening of the Trans-Canada Highway Monday.

Algiers Citizens Parade, Yell: 'WE'VE HAD ENOUGH'

ALGERS (AP)—Several hundred Moslem demonstrators calling for peace paraded through portions of Algiers today as tension built up over the possibility of armed clashes.

The demonstrators carried banners saying: "No fighting—we've had enough."

Algiers radio, under control of the local Wilaya (zone) 4 of the guerrilla army, called on the population to go into the streets to demonstrate against forces favorable to Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and to bar the roads to these forces.

Ben Bella's forces have been reported in the last 48 hours to be moving toward Algiers from the west. But so far there have been no indications they are near the city.

Telephone and telegraph connections between the central and western part of the new nation were cut late Thursday night.

Shortly before, European settlers had reported by telephone that heavy convoys of Algerian regular troops, armed with Soviet and Chinese weapons, were moving along three highways toward Algiers and were about 150 miles from the capital.

It was not known whether they halted for the night.

The regular army's chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, dispatched the units in obedience to an order from Ben Bella's political bureau to bring Algiers under the bureau's authority.

CIGARETTE SALES BANNED BY HOSPITALS

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—The South Manchester Hospital Group banned the sale of cigarettes Thursday at its six hospitals.

A spokesman said the group accepted advice from medical superintendents to discourage smoking in hospitals. Cigarette vending machines in the six hospitals are to be taken away, he said.

Visitors could still bring cigarettes for patients but every effort will be made to discourage them from smoking.

Red Missile Bases Ring Berlin Airways

BERLIN (UPI)—The Soviets ignored a British protest against a new collision two nights ago between a Soviet aircraft and a British European Airways Airlander coming in to land in West Berlin.

The revelation of Soviet missile bases, a highly-placed western military intelligence source said today.

The revelation of Soviet missile bases, rushed to completion in little more than a year, came as the East German Communists stepped up their campaign against alleged Allied "misuse" of the air access corridors to the city.

The Communists accused the United States of flying spies into West Berlin and illegally transporting West German government officials to Berlin in U.S. Air Force planes. Meanwhile, the Soviets
